We cannot revive old factions
We cannot restore old policies
Or follow an antique drum.

What we call the beginning is often the end
And to make an end is to make a beginning,
The end is where we start from.

We shall not cease from exploration
And the end of all our exploring
Will be to arrive where we started
And know the place for the first time.

(And the beat goes on . . .)

A wise old chief once reflected that the only thing one could be sure of in this life was change. And one of the most notable changes facing returning Warriors was the change in command at the Reservation as three new tribal leaders joined one familiar face to form the new Reservation Administration.

As principal, Mr. Dennis O. Gillikin assumed the duties of administration, supervision and operation of individual school functions. As "Super Warrior" his chief task was to provide leadership to his staff and see that the policies of the Hampton Board of Education were incorporated in school policy.

Assisting the Big Chief were three sub-chiefs: Messrs. Thomas Bailey, Harold Johns, and Larry Waddell. In addition to his duty as athletic director, Mr. Waddell was in charge of the student activity program, organizing the school calendar and the truly challenging job of keeping students' lockers alive and well. Mr. Bailey had the awesome task of coordinating both guidance services and student affairs. For a student who wanted a schedule change, the buck stopped at Mr. Bailey's desk. Mr. Johns had charge of the unpleasant but necessary job of drumming out students who were disciplinary problems. In addition, he was responsible for the maintenance of both the building and grounds.

In his usual calm manner, Mr. Dennis Gillikin is rather assertive regarding new policies at Kecoughtan.

Contemplating an answer, Mr. Dennis O. Gillikin appropriately responds to an interviewer's question.

ADMINISTRATION

The busy beat of Warrior activity proved that these leaders tended the Reservation campfires ably and well.

Instructional duties at hand, Mr. Thomas Bailey checks over the semester scheduling.

A smiling Mr. Gillikin points a finger at the culprit who parked in his parking space.

Student activities director, Mr. Larry Waddell, takes a brief break before assisting in the scheduling of the school's upcoming events.

STEREO "TYPING"

Question: What do you think of when you hear the word "secretary?"
Answer: A lady seated at an immaculately neat desk, filing her nails, making coffee for her boss, and talking on the telephone.

Wrong! The secretaries at Kecoughtan High School did not work to the beat of that particular drum. At any given time, on any given day, a person could walk into either the main office or the guidance department and see any one of the four secretaries typing, answering the telephone, sorting mail and accommodating incoming parents and students. Each of the four women worked hard to help Kecoughtan High School run smoothly and efficiently.

After hearing another request for appointments by Mr. Dennis Gillikin, Mrs. Katie Rives looks heavenward for inspiration.

Attempting to diminish the size of her "in" pile, Ms. Cheryl Williams does the "write" thing by working busily.

Protecting their spotless reputations, Mrs. Katie Rives and Mrs. Betsey Story clean up the duplicating machine.

Staying in top form, Mrs. Betsey Story and office assistant Sharon Micheals busily collect information for paperwork.

Typing up college transcripts and making guidance appointments are among the many duties of Mrs. Gladys Hardrath.

SWINGING TO THE RIGHT

Pep rallies at Kecoughtan High School were fewer in number than ever before during the 1980-81 school year. One hundred eighty seconds was the total time alloted as students entered the gym only three times during the school year. The reason? Too many students and not enough room in the gym. Unfortunately, because of this, those players who participated in spring sports were not presented to the student body. However, students were determined to make the most of it and the Reservation Gym vibrated with the spirited cheers and antics of the various classes and individuals. In the belief that class competition lowered school spirit, the coveted spirit jug was never awarded.

Pep rallies were led by SCA President Steve Locke who rallied the classes to give support to those teams that were introduced.

Preparing to get fired up, the Class of '82 saves its energy for the class competition.

Raising spirits and the decibal level, the band entertains fellow Warriors with its rendition of the school fight song.

Rooting for the Warriors, the Class of '81 spells it out.

Directing the pep rally, Steve Locke and Ellen Lewis wait for a break in the cheers.

Flashing that JV Cheerleader smile, Lisa Stromfors leads the sophomores in a pep rally cheer.

''TWAS THE NIGHT. . . . . .

'Twas the night of the ball
And soon all around
Dressed-up Warriors would hear
Nothing but sound.

The Keyettes and Key Clubbers
Worked hard to please
Displaying the theme
With benches and trees.

Decorations were hung
On the bare walls with care
In hope that the dancers
Soon would be there.

Couples stole to their tables
In candle-lit dark
Enjoying their Christmas
Dance "In the Park".

The band known as Redbird
Continued to play
As dancers bumped, boogied
And bopped every way.

With the evening near over
The day close in sight
The Warriors were merry
And all said "Good night".

Robin McKay rolls her eyes and smiles at "sweet nothings" whispered by her date Demir Bengal.

Keyette sponsor Mrs. Debra Mortimer and assistant check to make sure all refreshments are in order.

Taking a rest after a long evening of dancing, Sonya Johnson and Roger Stegall enjoy a peaceful moment alone.

Enjoying the last dance of the evening, Carolyn Doyle and Chris Mounts share a special secret together.

Showing her appreciation of Redbird's performance, senior Allison Butler is caught in the crowd.

Snapping her fingers to the beat, Karen Barnes dances the night away with Tommy Barrett.

Sharing each other's company, Jeff Jessup, Charlene Cole, Karen Brown and her date take a moment to pose for a picture before going back out on the dance floor.

A FESTIVE EVENING

Something new was initiated in December as the Kecoughtan Fine Arts Department combined with the cafeteria staff to present a tasty buffet dinner accompanied by an evening of great entertainment. The event was held in the cafeteria which had been transformed into a festive, candlelit dining area with selected student art works decorating the walls. With their meal, guests enjoyed the musical strains of the Kecoughtan String Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Joseph Wargo with guest harpsichordist Mr. Gary Lewis. Dessert included music by the Show Band under the baton of Mr. Fred Pendergraft. Featured were tunes from the Big Band Era and soloists Al Robinson, Larry Knox and Jesse Fanning.

An after-dinner delight was enjoyed by the guests as the Harbor Lights Ensemble and the Show Chorus directed by Mrs. Lucille Sutterer, sang selected songs of Christmas. More traditional Christmas music was presented by the A'Capella Choir, who, after performing, moved with the Ensemble into the audience and all present ended the evening with the singing of "Away in a Manger," "Silent Night," and "Joy to the World."

Expressing his musical talent, Sam Newsome performs a solo on his saxophone.

Dreaming of stardom, the Harbor Lights Ensemble entertains during the Festival.

"Getting into" the Christmas mood, Steve Locke "rocks" with the Ensemble.

The saxophone section of the KHS band plays for an eager audience.

Showing their holiday spirit, the choir sings traditional songs of Christmas.

Playing a solo from the Big Band Era, Larry Knox shows his expertise on the trumpet.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

What is the craziest club in Kecoughtan? Campus Life, that's what! Headed by Jeff Cannon and sponsored by the Peninsula Youth for Christ, Campus Life offered singing, games and an all-around good time every Thursday night at the Willow Oaks Community Center. Campus Life also held activities throughout the year such as a trip to Disney World, Florida, a whitewater rafting trip, a mystery ramble, a four-day ski trip to Pokino, Pa., and a one-day ski trip to Massanutten.

The purpose of the club was to help students through their high school years. The open discussions at each meeting were designed to help develop each individual in four areas: social, physical, mental, and spiritual. For the 1980-81 year, Kecoughtan's Campus Life Club was rated number one in the nation, averaging 150 members per meeting, and a top attendance of well over two hundred at the first meeting of the year, the Burger Bash. With so many participants and so much enthusiasm, Campus Life proved to be a productive experience.

Playing the guitar without any hands, Jeff Cannon entertains th Campus Life group.

Finally gaining courage, Sandy Bruce prepares for the long run.

Missing the punch line, a member of the club attempts to u derstand Campus Life humor.

FILL IT TO THE RIM WITH SPIRIT

Showing the spirit of ancient "greece" that prevails in the cafeteria, Maura Reed, Jesse Fanning, Carolyn Sharp, Mark Sentman, and Sharon Lucas display even more school spirit.

Kecoughtan's 1981 Basketball Homecoming was off to a bouncing start as students came out of their shells and dressed up in a variety of styles for spirit week. Monday took a step into the past with "50's Day". The cool look was continued on Tuesday as Warriors slipped into hats and sunglasses for "Shades and Hat Day".

Excitement mounted throughout the week and the gym was packed Friday night as Warriors witnessed the defeat over the Denbigh Patriots, 65-54. During the half time celebrations, class attendants were presented, and Senior Renie Tellinger was crowned as the 1981 Basketball Homecoming Queen.

After the victory, students gathered in the cafeteria for the Sadie Hawkins Day dance, sponsored by the Junior class. Couples danced into the night in celebration of the 1981 Basketball Homecoming.

Escorted by Ted Lockard, Senior Renie Tellinger smiles nervously after been crowned Homecoming Queen.

Riding a "new wave" of anticipation, Arnold Gyant participates in "Shades Day" as the big game approaches.

UPBEAT SPIRIT

Kecoughtan's 1980 Football Homecoming Festivities began with the traditional "dressing up" days during Spirit Week. Tuesday was "Hat Day," Wednesday, "Cowboy and Indian Day," Thursday, "Suspender Day," and Friday was "Green and White Day."

Sophomores won the annual Volkswagon Race as both the junior and senior classes were disqualified, but the excitement of Homecoming kept the upperclassmen in high spirits.

The beat quickened on Friday as students participated in the pep rally, the parade and the game. Held during fifth period in the gym, the pep rally gave students an opportunity to channel their energy into class competition. The Class of '81 shouted its way into a first place, while the juniors captured second place.

Friday afternoon also marked the annual Homecoming Parade. Although all three classes put forth a tremendous effort, the judges awarded the First Place Trophy in the Float Competition to the Junior Class, the Senior Class received second place, and third place went to the Class of '83.

Friday night, hundreds of Warriors flocked to Darling Stadium to watch and cheer the Warrior football team on to a 34-21 victory over the Warwick Raiders. At half-time, the 1980 Homecoming Court was presented to the crowd. Sophomore attendants included Georgien Gianaris and Sherri Seals, while Kris Bond and Kelly League represented the junior class. Senior attendants were Carolyn Broskie, Myra Dell and Karen Rummler. Cheers echoed throughout the stadium as Karen Rummler, escorted by Scott Williams, was crowned 1980 Homecoming Queen by SCA President Steve Locke.

Excitement was carried over into Saturday night's Homecoming Dance as students took time to unwind and dance the night away. All in all, Homecoming festivities retained the traditional "up-beat" spirit of Kecoughtan.

Although only half completed, the Senior Warrior shows he's nothing to "mesh" around with.

Darkness spread over the auditorium and the crowd hushed as the curtain rose revealing contestants in country style attire. Miss KHS of 1981 had begun.

After a well choreographed "swing" to "Thank God I'm a Country Boy" by the contestants, master of ceremonies, Mr. Jeff Cannon, carried on the commentary as each of the girls modeled casual wear. While the contestants waited nervously, Mr. Cannon announced the seven finalists. These finalists had been chosen the evening before in the preliminaries on the basis of modeling of sports and formal wear and the talent competition.

The finalists quickly returned to dressing rooms during intermission to change for their talent presentation. Intermission enabled the Hampton Jazz Band, under the direction of Kecoughtan's own Mr. Fred Pendergraft, to perform a number of well-known songs.

The contest continued as the girls presented their talent and then returned for the evening dress competition. After modeling their gowns, each finalist responded to a question which asked how they would react in a hypothetical situation. The audience and participants held their breath as the winners were announced. A beaming Tammy Ussez was awarded Miss Congeniality and Miss Talent went to Anita Dixon. Jan Roberts was announced second runner-up while Marian Bland received the honor of being first runner-up. Anita Dixon blinked back jubilant tears as she was crowned Miss KHS of 1981 by former Miss KHS, Kari Edwards. All in all, it was a beauty of a contest.

STAR WARRIORS

As graduation approached, many tasks had to be completed by the Senior Class, one of them being the prestigious Hall of Fame. The Hall of Fame was the Seniors' recognition of fellow classmates for their achievements in creativity, flirting, and talking.

Scott Gilbert and Tony Bynum, acting as masters-of-ceremonies, gave the annual event a touch of the Academy Awards.

Seniors nominated two students, one male and one female, for each of the twenty-one categories. The finalists were voted on, AND THE WINNERS WERE . . . !

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

After-school rehearsals marked the beginning of Class Night—the Grand Finale of the Class of '81. Traditionally, nostalgia and laughter reign as the seniors remember the highlights of their years at Kecoughtan. Skits which had introduced them to Kecoughtan in 1978 followed them out in 1981 as once more the seniors saw the familiar "Twelve Years of School" and "Sophomore Skit"

"Little Brothers," a band comprised of present and past KHS students, began the festivities. Emcees Jerry Daniel and Jesse Fanning introduced each act beginning with Lynn Lewis singing "Out There On My Own." "Twelve Years of School" followed and then a tribute to sports was led by all cheerleaders from Pembroke and Kecoughtan, past and present. Action slowed as the traditional Jefferson Cups were awarded to the students with the highest honors. Richard Moore and Jesse Fanning then took the seniors back to the Junior Ring Dance with their rendition of the theme song of that memorable event, "Time in a Bottle". Just before intermission, an act which originated at Pembroke High, "YMCA II" brought screams and whistles from the female members of the audience. Fun and games continued as the cheerleaders led a tribute to the Denior Wall, followed by the Sophomore Skit. "Wonder Warrior", an original composition by Susie Allred marked her tribute to all dedicated Warriors who roam the halls. Recognition of the Senior Class sponsors, Miss Mary Pat Owen and Mr. Mark VanDervort, the class officers, administrators, and the nine outstanding seniors had a sobering effect on the crowd. Misty eyes prevailed as the evening rounded off with "Little Brothers" music accompanying a slide presentation of the seniors' years at KHS. Thus went the Last Hurrah for the Class of 1981.

Singing her rendition of "Out There On My Own", Lynn Lewis entertains the Class or '81 with her talents.

Trying to convince Jerry Daniel that it isn't "just another rehearsal", co-emcee Jesse Fanning continues the program.

During the traditional skit "Twelve Years of School", Anita Dixon and Jessica Roderick "de-picked" the fifth year of bad manners and disgusting habits.

Bringing together class memories of past football games and pep rallies, Carolyn Broskie and Susie Simpson, along with other cheerleaders, perform a few of their cheers.

The Little Brothers Band, consisting of past and present Warriors, provided the music for the slide presentation.

A NIGHT IN VENICE

Signing the spacious guest list upon arrival was the first slippered step of the evening for Juniors before they proceeded through the flowered trellis to enter their "Dream-world". The "Venice" theme was portrayed by colorful gondolas lining the far wall of the room. Completing the Venician atmosphere was a quaint mural of Italian buildings silhoutted by a starry midnight-blue sky.

The rhythmical sounds of the band "Crystal" drifted through the room as couples danced and chatted. Candle flames blinked softly as the evening progressed and tired wax spilled in a rainbow of color down the wine bottles, molding memories. At the magical hour, couples formed a circle and the Junior Class President Eric Obeck, gave instructions for the traditional turning of the rings. Entranced Juniors had their rings turned and kissed their dates. A tape of the theme song, Billy Joel's "Everyone Has A Dream", was played, as the Juniors shared quiet memories of the evening and their "dream" came to an end.

Entering the ring dance, Vince Urbano and his date are shocked at the beauty of the once school cafeteria.

Lori Diffenderfer and her date take a break from the exciting dance to enjoy a peaceful moment together.

Michelle Dukart shows her enthusiasm about the evenings activities while her date, Kevin O'Connor, watches other couples dance.

To show their appreciation to Mr. Jerry Flowers for his hard work and dedication, the junior class presents him with a gift.

MILITARY MAGIC

The Naval Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps' Thirteenth Annual Military Ball was a huge success. The Ball, held at the Langley Officers' Club on Langley Air Force Base, was sponsored by the NJROTC Club. Club President An Vo, assisted by Merry Hurlburt and Marjorie Hendren, played a major role in the makings of the evening.

A lavish meal of shrimp with trimmings was served to the guests in the banquet hall of the Club. Company Commander John Harrell introduced the special guests and proposed the first toast.

Music for the evening was provided by the Navy "Hangar Band". Couples danced until the cake cutting ceremony, at which time Commander Edmund Stronski performed the honors on a beautifully decorated cake. At eleven thirty the Ball drew to a close, and tired but happy couples returned home.

While enjoying a slow dance with his wife, Commander Stronski expresses his delight at the Ball's success.

As Mr. Gillikin talks quietly with John Harrell, Francis Watt waits patiently for the next dance.

Dancing enthusiatically to the beat of the music, couples revel in the exciting atmosphere of the Military Ball.

Preferring the more "mature" man, Barbara Banks dances with Chief Spriggs.

With so many beautiful girls around, "out of commission" Troy Beard ponders about which girl he will ask to dance.

A NIGHT OF DREAMS

Night fell cool and clear on May 21st as couples slowly arrived at Fort Monroe Officers Club. Drifting in the night air were the sounds of the bands "Kicks" and "Colours" as each performed their version of the Prom theme, Grammy Award Song of the Year "Sailing," by Christopher Cross.

Black and white tuxedoes escorted varied colored formals to the dance floor to move to the music—a popular variety including New Wave, Southern Rock and Rock-n-Roll. Due to the lack of time, a Prom Court was not chosen. This went unnoticed as friends greeted each other with smiles and hugs and discussed their evening. Several of last year's administrators attended which brought back old memories, a welcome addition to an exciting evening. A light buffet was frequented, as was the punch bowl and soft drink taps.

After several encores by "Colours," couples left for parties and early breakfasts just after one o'clock in the morning. The Prom was over, but the memories will linger for a long, long time.

Thinking of the night, Belinda Bowen looks off at the surrounding scenery while David Riddle looks at her.

Demonstrating a new dance step, Barry Marushi gets the whole class involved.

"Now how did that step go?" wonders Mike Thompson as he concentrates on moving his feet.

Whispering sweet nothings, Billy Hannah makes his date, Cindy Hopkins, laugh.

Gathering together for a dance, the prom goers crowd the dance floor.

JUST A SKIP AWAY

After the final days of anticipating, notebooks flew, smiling faces were prominent, and joyous celebrating was underway. "Sun, fun, and hitting the sand" became the passwords repeated by freedom bound Warriors.

Many seniors rode the wave of cars headed to Nags Head and Cape Hatteras. Some got into the swim of things at local beaches. Still others heard only the pounding of feet on the pavement as they worked over the Memorial Day weekend. Even for the working Warriors, the days were filled with sailing, concerts, trips to Busch Gardens, and just plain having a good time.

Preparing to hit the hot beaches, Jack Jenkins carries along his thirst quenching six pack.

Soaking up the warm summer sunshine, Patty Johnson and Howard Sewell relax on the cottage patio.

Enjoying the view from their cottage, two KHS Seniors look over the crowded beaches.

A MASTER PERFORMANCE

At the final rehearsal, the cast members of The Masterbuilder reflect on their upcoming opening night.

The Masterbuilder, a serious play delving into the personality of the main character and his relationship to himself and God, was presented in April as the Drama Club's spring production. The play, which presented the conflict between man and man's feeling towards religion, starred Ken Leathers as Halvard Solness, the Masterbuilder. The cast, which included Robin McKay as the Masterbuilder's wife and Karen Rummler as the builder's lover, was small but well chosen. Impressive scenery was brought to life with the help of Jerry Daniel, the head of the technical crew. Under the guidance of director Mrs. Christine Ervin and student director Dana Rice, the actors and crew members managed to make this dramatic effort run smoothly and effectively.

As an essential part of drama, the make-up kit adds color to each production.

One Step Closer

Doned in the school colors of green and white, the soon to be gradautes slowly marched to the voices of the A'Cappella choir to their destination, the Keoughtan auditorium. Seated on stage with the class officers were principal Dennis O. Gillikin, and Chaplain (Maj.) Thomas L. Lucas. Mr. Dennis Gillikin gave the introductions, while Chaplain Thomas Lucas said the opening and closing prayers. The class of 1981 chose U.S. Representative Paul S. Trible to be the guest speaker. The honorable Paul S. Trible spoke briefly to the class of 1981 and their parents about reaching and setting goals. The services concluded with the benediction from Chaplain Thomas Lucas and the recessional by the KHS A'Cappella Choir.

In appreciation for speaking at Baccalaureate, Mr. Dennis Gillikin presents Paul Trible with a gift.

As Chaplain Thomas Lucas begins the opening prayer, the soon-to-be graduates rise and bow their heads.

Early arrivals await the signal to line up.

"Party time," yells Sharon Lucas after the Baccalaureate ceremony.

Filing out after the ceremony, thoughtful faces show the effect of Paul Trible's speech about setting and reaching goals.

ONWARD AND UPWARD

After twelve years of reading, writing, memorizing, and testing, the class of 1981's Graduation day finally came! For one last time, the Class of 1981 gathered together at the Hampton Coliseum to receive their diplomas to the applause of a crowd of expectant proud parents, families and friends.

To the traditional strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," the 1981 Seniors marched into the Coliseum with mixed emotions of everything from regret to joy. From their seats, the seniors listened to some uplifting thoughts of their Class President Myra Dell and classmates Michael Webb and Gregory Schneider. The Hampton Superintendent, Mr. Edward Szetela, gave the class a few words of wisdom. Then the moment of truth arrived as the seniors filed up to the stage for the distribution of their diplomas. With the turn of the tassel, the seniors became graduates. For one last time the school's Alma Mater "Green and White Forever" was played and then the graduates processed out of the Coliseum knowing that "every end is a new beginning" and that they're moving onward and upward.

Shaking hands with Mr. Gillikin, Mehul Shah stares unbelievingly at his diploma.

THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1981

Unable to contain her joy, Cathy Crosslin raises her arms in a victory salute while still on stage.

A smiling Todd Bass thinks "Happiness is graduating!"

Sheer joy is reflected in the face of Lisa Gatling as she hugs a fellow graduate.

Warriors

SPORTS

UNSUNG HEROES

At the beginning of the school year, twety-five players averaging about 170 pounds, began the football season. The early loss of Co-Captain Jack Jenkins due to injuries, was a big loss for team; however, the twenty-four remaining Warriors fought a hard season against larger teams who had a lot more reserve strength.

At first glance the win-loss record of 4-6 seemed pretty dismal; however, upon closer inspection one can see that the Warriors were never beaten in a conference game by more than seven points except the defeats by powerhouses Bethel and Menchville. These twenty-four "stout hearted men" led by co-captains David Christiansen, Robert Blackwell, Sam Massie, Maynard Brown and Jack Jenkins, gave every team they played a run for their money, fighting hard to the very end.

Honors went to David Christiansen as Most Valuable Player, All-District 1st Team Offensive lineman; and All-District 2nd Team Defensive lineman; Gerard Ruff, All-District 1st Team Defensive back, and All-District Offensive back, 2nd Team; and Wayne Pugh, All-District Defensive Back, 2nd Team. The Scholastic Award went to Jeff Heggen.

Coach Howard Jackson and Assistant Coaches John Pauls, Jerry Gentry, Tom Millen and William Mebane are to be commended for a job well done.

LADY CHAMPS OF THE COURT

Teamwork was the key word used to describe the successful season for the Lady Warrior Basketball Squad. Trained by Second year coach Gordon White, the twelve Lady Warriors produced a successful season of 18 wins and 4 losses, thus becoming the number one rival of the Phoebus Phantoms, Group AAA Peninsula District Champions.

Following the regular season the Lady Warriors advanced to the district tournament where in the first round they faced the Bethel Bruins. The expert foul shooting of Junior DonnaLynn Mears enabled the Warriors to nudge the Bruins by one point in overtime.

As fate determined, the Lady Warriors were to challenge Phoebus in the finals. Kecoughtan then went on to upset the Phantoms 52-45 to win their first Group AAA Peninsula District Basketball Tournament Championship since 1973. Senior Anita Dixon was nominated to the Peninsula All Tournament Team.

In regional play, the Lady Warriors defeated Maury (72-49) and Cox (56-45) to reach regional finals. In the final game of the regional tournament, the Lady Warriors faced Deep Creek High, where their hopes to go to state were shattered as they went down in a hard-fought game to a 61-57 defeat.

Combining their efforts, Mary Weiss and Bonita Green score another two points.

Co-Captains Anita Dixon and Mary Weiss were awarded the Most Valuable Player Award; also, Dixon was named Best Offensive Player and Weiss Best Defensive Player. For her third year in a row, Anita Dixon was selected to the All District First Team and Mary Weiss to the All District Second Team.

The Lady Warriors and Coach White are commended for their valiant efforts in producing a shining season.

SWINGING SEASON

Under the inspirational leadership of Coach Donald Taylor, the KHS golf team completed a very successful season. Practicing everyday and weekly matches prepared the all male team for district competition. With the consistent playing of senior Jeff Scheumann and excellent performances of team members like Ron Gillett, the team determination and "iron" will enabled them to place third in the district. Although all team members competed throughout the season, only Jeff was still "putt"-ering around when the competition reached the State level. Coach Taylor's emphasis on practice and sportsmanship led to the formation of a good "club" that represented the "green" and white at it's best.

"It's all in the wrist" . . . states Todd Saleba, as he tells about the techniques of a professional golfer.

HOOPING SUCCESS

Practicing nights and conditioning during the day, the Kecoughtan Varsity basketball team was prepared for a good season. The thrill of nine victories was slighted only by the team's 10 defeats but the overall record of 9-10 proved to be a great improvement over the previous record of 0-19.

Aiding the Warriors to victory was Kecoughtan's leading scorer, Bryan Hunt, and the team's best free thrower, Walter Moody, who also served as team captain. David Lee set an example for the other players with his sportsmanlike behavior, while best defensive players Mike Alves and Scott Woodlief kept the hoop open for the offense.

Continuing his position of head coach, Mr. James Hathaway managed to produce a team that was not only composed of individually gifted athletes, but consisted of numerous athletes who worked well together.

A SMASHING SEASON

Kecoughtan's netmen proved their excellence with an exceptional record for the 1980-81 season. Senior Cam Cosby, the number three ranked player, had the most successful season finishing with a 7-1 record. Billy Hannah, ranked number four, was awarded MVP, while Sophomore Mike Gibson, ranked second, received the Most Dedicated Award.

Coach Mark Vandervort credited the team's success with a combination of long hours of after school and weekend practices, willingness to win, and talent. The team's only two losses were to Hampton and Menchville, both scores being 3-6. After their loss to Hampton, the team bounced back and had a 5 match winning streak before being defeated by Menchville in their final match. The boys' record was an example of their determination to be the best and to finish with a "smashing" season.

With determination etched on his face, Todd Ames hits an overhead smash that is sure to be a winner.

WHOOPING . . . LOOPING . . . J.V. WARRIORS

Determination and the drive to win enabled the Junior Varsity basketball team to better their performance as the season progressed. After losing four of their first five games, the J.V. Basketball Team came on like true Warriors as they scalped five of their last six opponents and finished the year with a 6-5 record. It was the first winning season for a J.V. team since 1974. Coach Revis Conrad gave credit for the season to the entire squad, especially Casper Cooper, the team's Most Valuable Player who broke a J.V. record with twenty-one straight free throws. Leading shooter Scott Dow and leading rebounder Steve Harrell also played vital roles in key victories.

Coach Conrad believed the turning point for the team was their embarrassing loss to Hampton early in the season. He stressed the fact that if the team wanted a winning season, they would have to give 110% on the court. Their come-back record shows that they did just that.

The team shared their greatest win with a heartstopping 65-64 victory over second place Warrick in the second half of the season. All in all, the year was a slam-dunk success!

Making an impressive stance, Steve Harrell takes time out to analyze the game.

Trying to fake out an opponent with the invisible dribble trick, Ted Bunch seems intent on the game.

ON THE BALL

A KHS Soccer player attempts to score with a smashing foreward kick.

Learning the basics, perfecting their skills, and improving their teammanship was the "name of the game" for the JV soccer players. Under the expert tutelage of Coach Leonard Thomas, the team did just that.

Winning was not in the game plan as the players worked hard and scored on their opponents, but never enough to win. The winning was in learning the basics, and, next year as varsity players, it is expected that these JV players will contribute a great amount to the team as they utilize their knowledge, and go on to a winning season.

Keeping the ball in motion, Steve Bobko passes to Monica Spunzo, a fellow teammate.

VARSITY PIN-MEN

Headed by Coach Buddy Denton and Coach William Cawley the wrestling team ended their season with eight wins and five loses. A new addition to the team, Senior Ron Hafer, contributed much to the team with his eight pins, one of which was the fastest of the season, 26 seconds.

Co-Captains Chuck O'Donnell and Rusty Melton worked together keeping the team in good shape and in good spirit. The team spent endless hours practicing and training in order to sharpen and improve their skills and techniques. All of the hard work payed off in the end though, as the Kecoughtan Wrestling team placed fourth in the Peninsula District.

Preparing to put the final move on his opponent Chuck O'Donnell gasps for a quick breath of air.

REALLY KICKING

Striving to regain its past glory, Kecoughtan's soccer team once again rose to meet the challenge of the champions. Donning their jersies and lacing their boots, these Warriors entered the pitch to battle the opposing clubs. After a season of vigorous practice and intense matches, the soccer team emerged in 2nd place position in the district. Coaches Joe Hagy and Kelly Alford guided the club in well versed drills of skills, agility, and dreaded sprints. Although rarely joining the members in the drills, the coaches insured that all team members were in shape physically and, more importantly, mentally, for each game.

Players recognized for their outstanding skills were Senior Bob Owens, Most Valuable, Pat Richards and Jimmy White who received the team service awards. Other members who should be recognized for their excellence of play were Thor Hocket, Raul Diaz, Matt Lord, Tim Sullivan and Billy Edgette.

Besides the actual men on the pitch, the backbone of the club "the Scrubs" played a vital role as replacements and spirit boosters. It can easily be said that the 1981 soccer team was "really kicking".

A GEM OF A TEAM

For the third year in a row, the varsity baseball team came away with the Peninsula District Championship. The team earned the right to represent the Penninsula District in Region competition by defeating Warwick 5-1 in a play-off. Both Kecoughtan and Warwick finished the regular season with 13-3 records.

Outstanding pitching by seniors Dick Neil and Mike Rawles, and junior Tim Burcham led the team throughout the entire season. Burcham and Neil finished first and second respectfully in earned run average during district competition. Both were named to the sportswriters All-District team, along with Mike Rawles and Scott Woodlief. Offensively, the team was led by Jimmy Jones and Scott Woodlief. Both finished the season with averages of .357. Dick Neil finished with an average of .344. Jones led the team with five homeruns, and tied Neil for team honors in runs scored (16), and runs batted in (15). Other offensive leaders included Sam Massie, Tim Burcham, Mike Rawles, Mike Alves, Jerry Day, and Charlie Keatts.

In Eastern Regional competition, the Warriors faced Maury in the semi-finals. Behind the two-hit pitching of Dick Neil, the team defeated Maury 3-0. In the regional title game, Tim Burcham produced the highlight of the season when he pitched a no-hitter, turning back First Colonial 1-0. This victory earned the team the right to represent the Eastern Region in the State Tournament. In the semi-finals of the state tournament, the Warriors were defeated by J.R. Tucker 1-0.

Because of his outstanding all around season, Dick Neil was voted most Valuable Player by his teammates. Jimmy Jones and Scott Woodlief received batting trophies for their leading .357 averages. Dick Neil (5-3), and Tim Burcham (8-1) each received the outstanding pitching trophy for their excellent pitching throughout the entire season.

Sam Massie and Dick Neil received three year varsity awards and Dick Neil and Mike Rawles received captains awards.

Jimmy Jones and Dick Neil were rewarded for their outstanding seasons by being selected to play in the East-West All Star game.

JUST ADD WATER

The swimming victories were accomplished under the leadership of a new coach, Steve Newman. The guidance and coaching ability of Coach Newman was revealed as the team earned a superior dual meet record of 7-1. Additional guidance was provided by tri-captains senior Melissa Stickle and juniors Tommy Stickle and Tish Johnson.

After a dismal opening meet, the team rallied for a seven-meet winning streak. This effort was overshadowed only by the thrill of winning the elusive District Championship. District highlights included first place titles by Ric Murray in the 100 backstyle, by Sue Randolph in the 200 freestyle, and Tish Johnson and Kelly Steinmetz in the 100 freestyle and the 100 backstroke respectively. First place spots were also taken by both the boys and the girls 400 freestyle relays.

The team's banquet was held at Anna's and proved to be a prestigious event as all the Flying Fish earned a letter for their determined efforts. Individual acknowledgement went to sophomore Mark Midgette, the Most Deserving, Tish Johnson, Most Valuable Girl, and Tom Stickle, Most Valuable Boy. The successful season, in which all swimmers "pooled" their skills, was the origin of the cheerful spirit that prevailed not only at the banquet but during the entire season.

RECORD BREAKERS

In the past years Kecoughtan's track team had, for the most part, gone unnoticed. This year was different as, under the supervision of the new head coach, Bill Mebane, Kecoughtan's track team make a surprising turnaround. This shocking new wave of energy was due to the hard work and dedication of every member of the team.

The small team consisted of loyal hardworking members who were determined to have a winning season. This determination pushed the team forward in a burst of running energy. Members of the team reached their personal goals as many were able to go the the District and Regionals. Finishing in the top ten percent at District and Regionals allowed Tim Upchurch to go on to the state meet.

The three relay squads who broke schools records added much strength to the team as the 1600 meter and the 800 meter relay teams ended the season with the second and third fastest times in the district.

With this new surge of power and confidence, the Warrior Track Team had a shining, successful season.

THE END OF A LEGEND

Performing to their best capabilities was a necessity for the 1980 girl's track team. Due to small school participation, there was little or no depth in events. Therefore, it was up to the girls themselves to provide the depth. The team members often competed in from 2 to 6 events per meet, making for hectic scheluling. Despite this major difficulty, the individual athletic ability of each runner/field events person enabled the Lady Warriors to enjoy continued success.

As usual, the realy teams consistently earned needed points. The 400 meter relay team members, who also doubled in the 1600 relay, seniors Bonita Greene, Linda Batchelor, and Anita Dixon, and junior Jackie Cheesman, combined their talents to enjoy a winning streak that took them all the way to state competition. For their efforts this year, the three seniors were awarded Most Outstanding Awards.

In another "field" were the distance runners. Illness and injuries severly limited the depth of this section of the team. Returning runners were Maureen Hinnebusch and junior Marykate Behan. Newcomers included Anne Callahan and Courtney Bennett. For her support of fellow distance runners and her advancement into Regional competition, the Most Deserving Award was given to Maureen.

Although the team consisted of a selection of all three classes, the backbone of the team, the seniors, who had participated for all their high school careers and made a name for the Lady Warriors, moved on. In three years the team had earned the respect of local coaches and teams. It was indeed the end of a legend.

Discus thrower Denise Cooke gets a "lift" from her sport.

Distance running is a lonely sport, and Maureen Hinnenbusch proves this as she is the only runner on the track.

The relay team of Christi DeRouen and Jackie Cheesman pass the baton during practice.

IN THE SWING . . .

Victory can be long and hard in the making, but the girl's tennis team managed to keep the ball rolling and complete a successful season. With only three players returning, the Lady Warriors had to practice to a hard, driving beat to prepare for upcoming matches.

Two of the most gripping matches were those between Kecoughtan and long-time rivals Phoebus and Bethel. The Warriors spooked the Phantoms and battered the Bruins with dominating 8-1 scores. For her outstanding play in matches like these, and her 11-1 singles and undefeated doubles records, the Most Valuable Player Award went to the fourth seeded player, senior Christine Kalaski. Despite difficult competition, top-seeded Maureen Hinnebusch and second-seeded Laura Russell, both seniors, refused to be nettled and provided the team with plenty of spirit and leadership as co-captains.

After much hard work, the team recorded a string of victories, placing third in the district. In his first year of coaching girl's tennis, Coach Buddy Denton guided the team to a successful 8-3 season. By combining practice and fun, the girls put forth their best efforts to end a swinging season.

LIGHT READING

Examples of Kecoughtan students' creative talents were captured and printed in the Torch, a literary magazine edited and put together by a student staff for sheer enjoyment. The magazine was supervised by fourth-year sponsor Mrs. Betty Bragg and co-editors Martha Neal and Pam Hammett.

The Torch was compiled of essays, short stories, poetry, cartoons, photographs, paintings and doodlings. A staff of approximately ten students collected art and literary work, proofread and constructed layouts with the help of the art teachers. Sources for the Torch were obtained through art classes and through students who brought in their artistic works for the publication. Creativity was pressed in several pages of artistic talents which caught moods that ranged from happiness and humor to pathos and sadness.

Members of the staff participated in the school-wide candy selling activity. The money obtained was used to cut down the price of the magazine to the students. The activity card (or a nominal fee) plus Warrior interest made the Torch a success at KHS.

Choosing the right art works, Terry Wilson and Terry Christian, pick only the best.

Discussing possible poems, Jon Rhodes and Pam Hammett search through the many items submitted by students.

With the help of Mrs. Betty Bragg, the Torch staff, Jon Rhodes, Pam Hammett, and Martha Neal, discuss the final format of the literary magazine.

TRANSFER ADJUSTMENT GROUP

Discussing transfer problems, Miss Ellen Kozack counsels TAG members.

Quickly reviewing his lines for a TAG skit, Mr. Arnold Ritt prepares to enter the spot light.

Wandering through the maze of lettered and numbered corridors, new students wondered if they would ever adjust to Kecoughtan High School. More importantly, they wondered if they would ever find their first class.

At Kecoughtan High School, a special group for new students, the Transfer and Adjustment Group (TAG) was here to help new students assimilate into Kecoughtan. Guidance counselor Mr. Arnold Ritt and Miss Ellen Kozack from Peninsula Family Services organized the weekly meetings where the group discussed the problems of being a new student at a school. TAG parties were given during each semester, enabling the members to get to know each other. The main objective of TAG was to ease the strain of a new move and to help students gain the confidence needed to help them adjust to their new surroundings.

Planning her strategy, Maura Reed studies the backgammon board at a TAG party.

Awaiting the beginning of a TAG meeting, the group gathers in the Kiva.

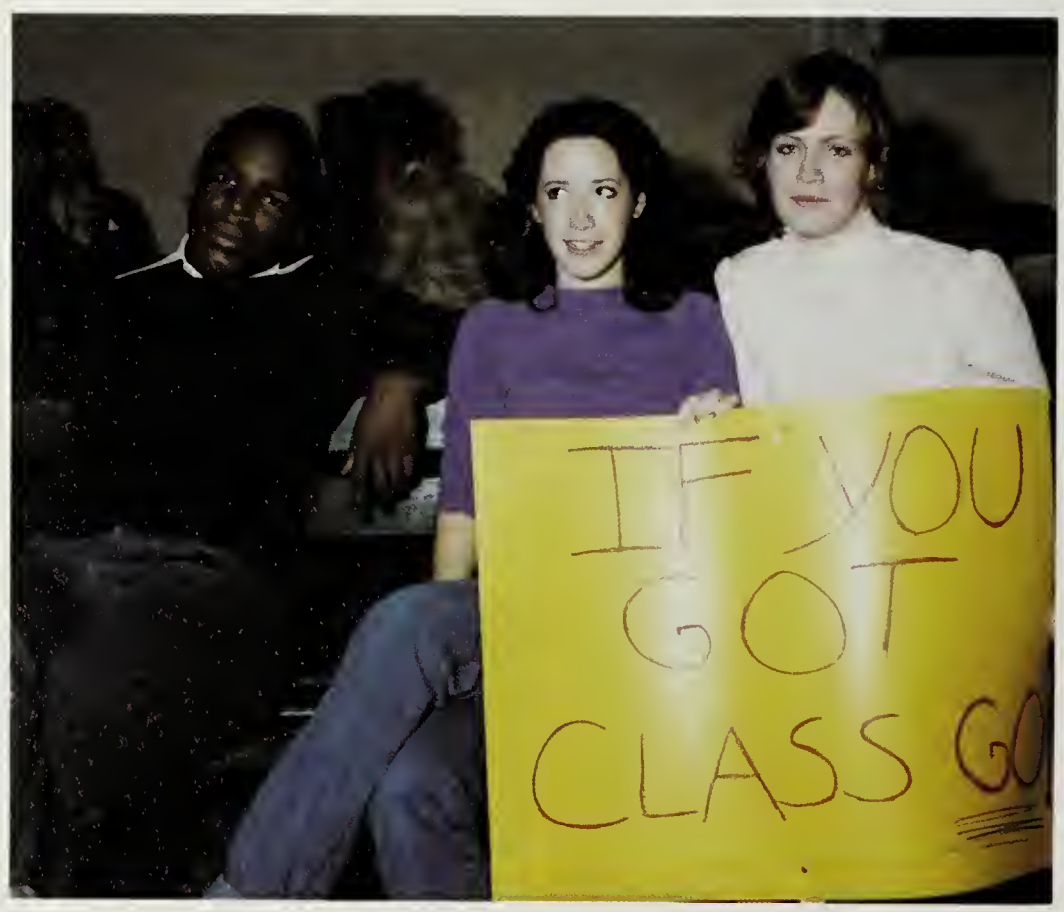
Kecoughtan High School Drama Club, under the direction of its new drama instructor, Mrs. Christine Ervin, made its debut in the presentation of "If That's Where It's At Baby, I'm Not Going" on December third and fourth.

A rollicking three-act comedy about a student rebellion at a small New England college, the play provided a great evening of entertainment for an appreciative audience. In addition to the large cast, students worked backstage to make the production go smoothly. Steve Pobanz served as the student director, Richard Moore was in charge of the stage crew and Gene Green headed up the makeup department.

Suggesting a possible candidate for Dean, Barney Halloran (Greg Schneider) tries to sway the other members of the Board of Trustees.

After proving a point, cast members emphasize their words by actions.

Counter-acting the protest, Tina (Tanya Starnes), Joyce (Robin McKay and Gary (Hugh Hudson) show their support of the school by telling people to go to class.



"PLAY"-ACTING

After the play, Dean French (Demir Bingal) and Joyce (Robin McKay) discuss each other's performances.

Stressing the importance of using a "motherly" attitude, the police captain (Zolton Molnor) instructs Officer Jansen (Cindy Cors) and Officer Parsell (Peggy Tiginor) to be gentle.

Press, (Scott Gilbert) says "no way" to Josh (Don Harrison) and Stan's (Michael Holt) pleas to lead the school demonstration.

Que Pasa

Participating in outings, shows and dinners, students enjoyed the many activities of the foreign language clubs. The French Club, sponsored by Mrs. Carleen Yates, held several activities during the 1980-81 school year. Beginning with a breakfast featuring French cuisine, the Club also planned field trips to see plays and eat gourmet delicasies. Headed by Mrs. Judith Williamson, the German Club entered a Thanksgiving basket in the fall competition winning first place in the appearance category. The club also sold advent calendars during Christmas. The Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Nan Jordan, took part in the Christmas program in which they were joined by the French and German Clubs. By their participation, Club members learned more about foreign languages and all enjoyed the cultural experience.

Imitating a vagrant Roman soldier, Gene Fant seizes a laughing Maureen Hinnebusch.

Preparing to go on stage, Sharlyne Soriana waits for her cue.

Tasting a piece of German Chocolate cake, Mrs. Williamson finds it finger-lickin' good.

Beaming over his quiche creation, Rick Murray enjoys a French Club breakfast.

Flaunting her new "Burlington" creation, Ellen Taylor joins in the Christmas program.

STRIKING UP A BEAT

Kecoughtan High School Band has the tradition of "doin' Kecoughtan proud" and the school year of 1980-81 was no exception. Under the direction of Mr. Fred Pendergraft, the 112-member marching band led by drum majors Alex Smith and Jesse Fanning, lent its support to all the home football games and pep rallies and represented Kecoughtan in the various local parades. In the 1980 District VII band festival held at Bethal High School, the KHS band received a superior rating, the highest grade attainable. Something new was added as Mr. Pendergraft divided the band into two performing groups, symphonic band and concert band. For the first time in years, KHS had a stage band which began its career by co-hosting a "Festival of the Arts" dinner-concert with the KHS Choral Department on the evening of December 19.

In addition, after seventeen years of selling raffle tickets, candy, etc. to earn money, the band finally bought new uniforms, proudly premiering them in the Hampton Christmas Parade. Continuing the old tradition, the KHS Band once again closed the school year with the playing of "Pomp and Circumstance" at Commencement exercises held in the Hampton Coliseum.

Proudly carrying KHS colors the flag bearers enjoy a brisk morning wind.

STEPPIN' OUT

Dazzling crowds at pep rallies and football games were the KHS majorettes, co-captained by Lori Felker and Linda Griffith. Using their finely executed twirls and dance steps, they raised the school spirits of all who watched. Working alongside the majorettes, the KHS flag twirlers, who were led by Anita Dixon and Doreen Jones, captivated their audiences with upbeat music and intricate routines. Both the flag twirlers and the majorettes took part in the Homecoming and Christmas Parades, and, on the first and third of December, attended a workshop at the Coliseum to acquire more skills.

Hours of practice were needed to make the complicated steps appear smooth and easy. The girls rehearsed four days a week during the summer and prepared for the games after school with the band. Under the guidance of their sponsor, Mrs. Adegeline Hill, both the majorettes and the flagtwirlers worked hard to make the year more enjoyable for everyone.

Holding her baton high, Linda Griffith marches in time with the band.

Concentrating on her routine, Renee Knopp anticipates her next move.

Anxiously awaiting her cue, Anita Dixon prepares for her final home game performance.

Using the skills she has developed as a flagtwirler, Doreen Jones performs in a KHS pep rally.

After weeks of practicing for Homecoming, Lori Felker demonstrates the art of baton twirling with polished perfection.

A COURSE FOR THE FUTURE

NJROTC was not just an ordinary class subject. It was more of an "adventure," learning about what goes on in the United Stated Navy.

Instructors Commander Edmund Stronski and Senior Chief Petty Officer Arthur Spriggs used their many years of experience to teach the Cadets a variety of interesting subjects such as drill and ceremonies, ship classification, history, navigation and weather.

However, classroom subjects were only part of the Cadet life. Extra activities, including Company functions, at-sea cruises, Drill and Rifle competition, parade competition (four first-place awards), added to the excitement of being in the program. The NJROTC offered further activities that made the program even more enjoyable such as spring and fall unit picnics, a Christmas raffle, and a formal Military Banquet.

Responsibility and honesty was what NJROTC was all about and with the guidance and encouragement of Commander Stronski and Chief Spriggs, the subjects and activities associated with the Naval Junior Reserve Officers Corps helped give students an idea of what a career in the Armed Forces could mean to an individual.

Leading their troops down Mercury Boulevard, An Vo, Marjorie Hendren, and Bobbi McIntire keep everyone in line.

Exhibiting their winning form, the girls' platoon shows that hours of practice pay off.

Following the formation, Dwayne Willingham strides along at an even pace.

Adding a touch of color, the NJROTC Color Guard proudly carry the flags.

Staying in step, the NJROTC Drill Team enjoys participating in the parade.

"Left! right, left!" shouts Terry Hartmann as the NJROTC marches in the Christmas Parade.

"SKOOL-AID"

Help came in many different forms but the one most noticeable at Kecoughtan was in the form of student aides. They were found in most places around the school, putting order and uniformity back in their places.

Students who didn't have anything to do during an excused period had the choice of having study hall or working in the library, bookstore, guidance, or in the offices. The jobs included making absentee slips for the deans, handing out passes to students for guidance appointments, selling articles in the bookstore, and checking books in the library. After working hard throughout the year, each of the aides was presented a certificate of appreciation at the spring awards ceremony.

Comparing guidance notices, Karen Rummler and Steve Small roam the halls of Kecoughtan.

Giving the sophomores a reputation for spirit was easy with the help of the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders. They led their class at pep rallies and games with energetic jumps and chants. Mrs. June Tharpe, their sponsor, competently organized her performers to earn money for camp by selling stationary and candy. Many hours of after-school practice enabled them to gain perfection in their routines. All in all, these hours of practice proved worthwhile for the JV's as they enthusiastically led the class of '83 in spirit.

Melanie Smith raises her arms in elation after the JV basketball team makes another score.

CHEER-FUL WARRIORS

Full of pep, enthusiasm, and energy, the Kecoughtan Varsity cheerleaders led the Warrior fans. With the help of their sponsor, Ms. June Tharpe, and co-captains Lynn McCormick and Karen Krodel, they kept a full schedule devoting hours to practice, fund raising, pep rallies, games and more practice.

Holding bake sales and selling candy helped raise money to send the girls to a national cheerleading camp for a week during the summer. Their hard work from hours of practice was recognized when they were awarded two excellent and one superior ribbon for their cheering ability and two out of three spirit sticks for the most spirited.

Their enthusiastic support and spirited yells encouraged our football, basketball and wrestling teams all year.

A NOTE OF JOY

KHS was honored by having three choral groups, the Mixed Chorus, the Harbor Lights Ensemble, and the A'Cappella Choir perform at various functions throughout the year. Included were the Christmas program, the Variety Show and the Spring Concert with the A'Cappella wrapping up the season by singing at the Baccalaureate Services.

Harbor Lights and A'Cappella participated in state-wide competitions. Directed by Mrs. Lucille Sutterer and accompanied by pianist Ms. Phyllis Holland, the Harbor Lights Ensemble won three superior ratings at the Mid-Atlantic Show Choir Festival held at James Madison University. The Ensemble also honored the parents and friends of graduates with a performance and a reception before graduation. Three members of the A'Cappella were recognized for their outstanding talents. Alex Smith became a member of the Honors Chorus, and Steve Pobanz and Robert Ford were selected to join the All-Virginia Chorus. Twenty-eight other members of the A'Cappella were selected for the regional chorus.

Due to the cooperation within the groups and the excellent leadership of Mrs. Sutterer, the three groups had a superb year.

Dedication and hard work are Mrs. Sutterer's keys to success.

Feeling confident that her students are ready to sing, Mrs. Sutterer introduces her choral group to guests at the Fine Arts Festival.

A CLASS-Y ACT

Listening to lectures and having a set schedule were the only aspects that made the week-long Presidential Classroom similar to school. Lectures often continued throughout the day and ended at 10 o'clock at night. Whatever free time was available was spent sight-seeing, sleeping, or simply goofing off.

Kecoughtan representatives, only two Seniors per session, were treated to seeing different VIP's, including Margaret Thatcher and the Americans who had been held hostage in Iran. Students heard lectures from political figures like Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Vice-President George Bush. Later, trips were made to Capitol Hill and to the Senators' offices and to the House of Representatives.

Students from all over the world participated in the annual program and tours of the Smithsonian and the White House were a must. Although the packed schedules left little spare time, there was still enough to make friends. The end of the seminar was hailed with a dance and a bit of sorrow. The adventure had proved ts fun as it had been informative.

Giving each other their support, Ellen Lewis and Jan Roberts think brightly of their days ahead in Presidential Classroom.

SENIOR TAKEOVER

As part of the SCA activities, Senior Day was held in the spring. All students at KHS looked forward to this day because for sophomores and juniors it meant a day without their regular teachers. For seniors it meant finally being able to take over their favorite classes. In most cases, teachers left lesson plans the seniors were to follow, but a few left the day entirely up to their stand-ins. The day was definitely a success since both students and teachers had fun while learning at the same time. Senior Day '81 at Kecoughtan was a day that will probably live in the memories of those who participated forever.

Taking his job seriously, Mr. John Quinn (Jesse Fanning) explains an analytic geometry problem.

Mrs. Gladys Hardrath (Kathy Potoco) enjoys the peacefulness that Senior Day brings to the Guidance office.

NEWS BRIEF

Although at many points it seemed as if TRIBAL TALES would never meet another deadline, the staff, under Editor-in-Chief Greg Schneider, finally made it through another year with flying colors. For the fourth year in a row, the Kecoughtan newspaper won the sweepstakes award at the annual Daily Press High School Journalism Awards Luncheon; for the second year in a row, TRIBAL TALES took the Community Service Award given at the same contest. This award is given to the area paper that best serves its school and community, and KHS won with a series of articles and photographs designed to make students more aware of the condition of the school around them.

Under the firm but understanding hand of Faculty Advisor Mrs. Joel Grimm, the staff of the paper earned these awards after making it through a particularly tough year. Because of a tight money situation, only ten issues could be printed, compared to the usual twelve. A special Parents' Issue was put togehter and sent out to the home of each and every one of this years' 1800 Warriors . . . a time-consuming project. Topics such as the problems facing new students from Pembroke and other schools were covered, along with copy on vandalism, theft, teen suicide, a motorcycle-riding priest, and Slim Whitman. Overall, the purpose of the paper this year was to provide readers a useful, informative picture of the school and environment they are surrounded by. Achieving this goal even partially is an accomplishment more important than winning the most prestigious of awards; and by the end of the year, the staff of TRIBAL TALES was confident that they had done everything possible in this direction.

In deep thought over a copy she has been assigned to write, Susan Crenshaw collects her ideas before beginning.

Junior Thom Randolph has the enormous task of preparing the Parents' Issue of the Tribal Tales to be sent home.

THE BINDERS OF MEMORIES

If not for staffers fighting the clock
There mightn't have been A Tomahawk.
The annual staff
Proved very small,
A few to record
Events for all.
But steady staffers
Wouldn't quit,
(Although it's true
They griped a bit
Yearbook sponsor Norma Seals
Drove ahead with
Sizzling wheels
Typing, writing,
yelling too,
Her job was surely
Hard to do.
Heading the staff,
Don't discredit her,
Was Allison Butler,
beloved editor.
Despite hard work
and small school support,
She did her best
And held the fort,
Meeting deadlines
Throughout the year
Filling the staffers'
Work with cheer.
The clippings, layouts,
Croppings too,
Were tasks the workers
Had to do.
Titles, captions
And mounds of copy
Were revised to perfection,
Nothing sloppy.
Considering all the pains
That were taken,
It's clear staff hopes
Were not mistaken.
That someday Warriors
Would stop and look
To find that staffers
Wrote a super yearbook.

A fellow staffer, Karen Butler, meticulously counts the number of spaces required for a final layout.

"Oh no not again!" yells Allison Butler as she tries to free her finger from the typewriter.

SUPER SNAPPERS

Behind every great annual staff is a group of much needed friends, the photographers. This small group of nine often gave up their lunch periods, evenings, and afternoons to the darkness of their second home, the dark room. Here they worked with chemicals such as D-76 and dektol to produce pictures taken at dances, sports events, and official functions.

There is more to photography than clicking a camera. Mixing chemicals, negative filing, negative rolling, printing, and enlarging were all drudgerous tasks needed to be done before final results could be seen. Overworked and underappreciated, these shutterbugs were usually able to meet the demands of annual staffers who put in photo requests at a rapid rate. However, compensation for their hard work was found in everyone's enjoyment of their recordings of the year in pictures when the Tomahawk was distributed.

Susan Hill desperately digs for a lost photograph while an anxious annual staffer pounds on the dark room door.

"Hey, who hid my camera?" asks Jerry Daniel at a pep rally where he has been assigned to take pictures.

SIGNALS THROUGH THE AIR

Susan Crenshaw displays her broadcasting talent over the TOM TOM's air waves.

Inform and entertain—these were the main purposes of the Warrior TOM-TOM, Kecoughtan's student radio program. Susan Crenshaw, student producer, along with faculty advisor Mrs. Joel Grimm, oversaw the selection of a topic, writing of the script, and working of the controls. Susan was assisted by numerous students at various times during the year, but there was no established staff.

Broadcasted over WHOV, Hampton Institute's station, the TOM-TOM alternated air time with other Hampton high schools. Shows were diversified as some concentrated on music (newwave rock, movie soundtracks) and others on current events in the city such as the school budget.

Hampton air waves were enlightened by this fresh new sound as the Warrior TOM-TOM accomplished its missions.

Before going on the radio, Adam Pittman goes over the day's program.

WESSONALITY

Working to improve the school and its activities kept the Student Cooperative Association, the SCA, busy. Taking charge in his last year as sponsor was Mr. Garland Wesson aided by club president Steve Locke. The SCA was in action early in the year sponsoring orientation, pep rallies and a back-to-school dance.

As a representative body for Kecoughtan students, the SCA was involved in many school events. Executive Board members attended a regional workshop and monitored class and homecoming elections. With the guidance of Mr. Wesson, the organization coordinated Senior Day and the Academic Awards Assembly.

Many club activities were geared toward community services. At Christmas, money was raised to buy gifts for the custodial and cafeteria staffs, and for the Peninsula United Fund. The SCA also co-sponsored the annual blood drive. In doing this, the SCA worked to unite the student body in not only school, but also in community activities.

SUPER WARRIOR MERCHANTS

Helping students develop skills into careers was what the Kecoughtan chapter of Distributive Education Clubs of America accomplished. Recieving the chapter of the year award along with a gold star certificate showing superior achievement for their future in the world of retailing.

DECA actively showed its activity around school. They participated in the candy sale, homecoming, club week and raised money in other different ways to send students to different conferences around the country. DECA also had a banquet to honor former members that have become successful in retailing.

KHS BOOK – IES

Kecoughtan's library and Audio-Visual Center were storerooms of knowledge holding vast numbers of books, magazines, newspapers, films and tapes to help students in their search for understanding in the various subject areas. Headed by Ms. Nancy Spain and Assistant Librarian Ms. Mary Pat Owen, the library staff was in charge of the organization of these materials and other tools of learning. Aided by secretaries Mrs. Jeanne Owens and Mrs. Bette Bishop, the staff conducted a well-run organization.

In addition to her responsibilities as head librarian, Ms. Spain also handled library finances, wrote supervisory reports and governed classes working in the library. The most taxing job occurred during the last two weeks of school when a yearly inventory was taken and old and new materials were accounted for.

Duties of Ms. Owen and Mrs. Bishop in the audio-visual center were similar to those of the main library staffers. Student aides delivered and picked up equipment; workers also insured that equipment remained in working condition, often making minor repairs. A new addition was the news bank, a collection of articles kept on microfile. These and other A-V materials were available to all.

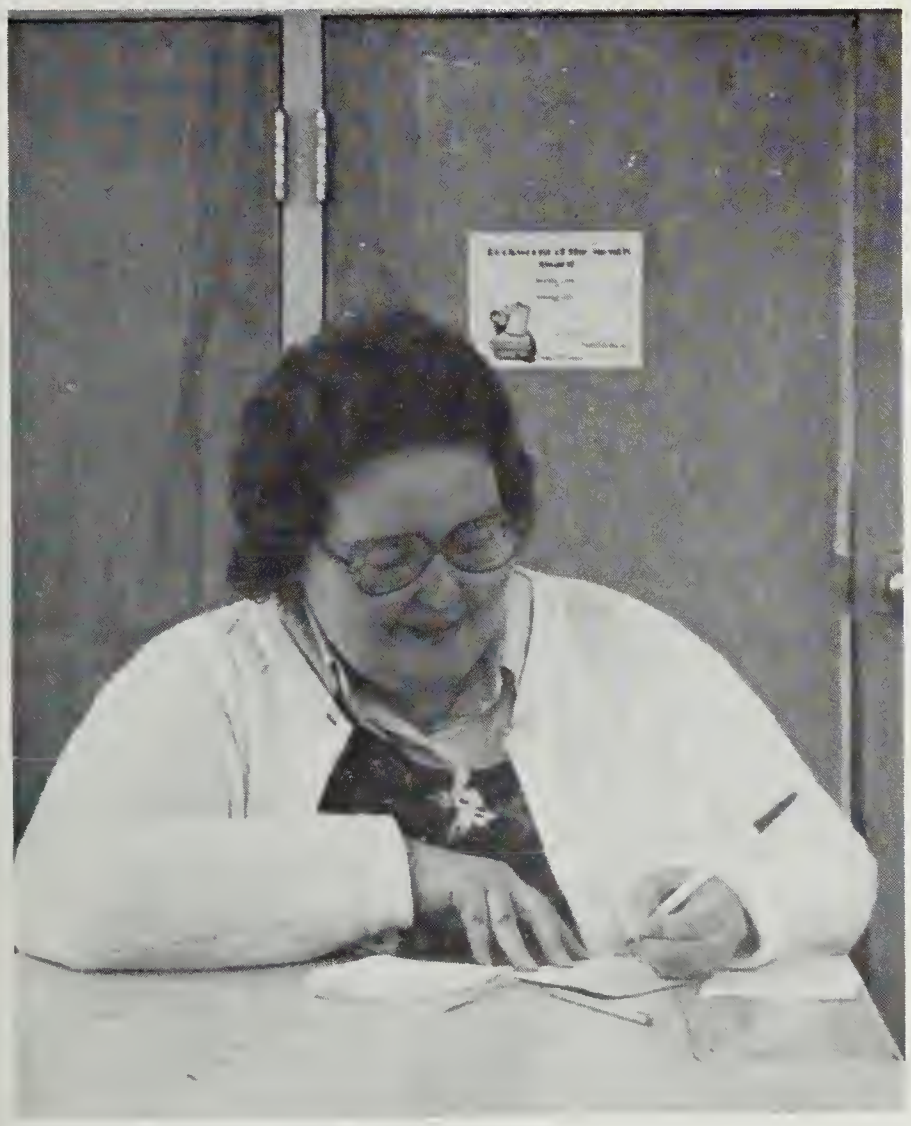
Both the library and A-V Center were essential learning branches of KHS, kept orderly and up-to-date by the staff and dedicated student aides. Helpful materials were easily accessable in an atmosphere which was conducive to learning.

Wishing it were quitting time, Mrs. Bette Bishop sighs as she thinks of all the work ahead.

Using the well organized card catalog, Paulette Griffin tries to find a book for her next report.

Scanning information on the microfilm, Andrianne Quash focuses the material.

"Nobody ever listens to me!" thinks Miss Mary Pat Owen as she repairs damage done by an unknown party.



Always showing a smiling face at the front desk, Mrs. Nancy Spain writes out overdue slips.

JUNIOR GOVERNMENT

Leadership, citizenship, scholarship and honesty: these were the criteria upon which candidates for Boy's and Girl's State were selected. Chosen by a faculty board, nineteen students were selected for the honor of representing Kecoughtan in the week-long seminar designed to teach about state government.

Sponsored by the American Legion, clubs and organizations had to be found to provide money required to send each delegate. Girls, in their colorful beanies representing different political parties, attended Longwood College. Clad in their required T-shirts, boys arrived expectantly at Lynchburg College. This experience proved to be an excellent expression of partitism and a valuable learning experience in the workings of politics and government.

SUPER SUMMER

Scott Walker, Marykate Behan, and Robert Shuford smile joyfully after receiving the news that they have been chosen to attend Governor's School.

The purpose of Governor's School was to provide intellectually challenging and enriching experiences for a limited number of rising Junior and Senior high school students who are academically gifted and/or artistically talented. The three participants of this years Governor School were Marykate Behan, Robert Shuford, and Scott Walker. Each high school nominated two or more students, the total was 450 students. Their tuition was paid by the state fund for stuents.

Governor's school was located at three colleges, George mason University, Mary Washington College, and Randolph-Macon Womans College. The program offers four curriculums, Fine, Performing, and Practical Arts; the Humanists; the natural and Physical Sciences; and History and Social Sciences. The daily schedule of the scholars' included work in their particular field in the morning; recreation, special interests or field trips in the afternoon; and special events, concerts, lectures or movies in the evening.

STAR SERVICE

"We serve", the motto of the international Keyette organization, was actively upheld in the 1980-81 school year. Under the leadership of club president Debi Cannan, the Keyettes performed many community projects. Typical events were the spreading of cheer at the Hampton Convalescence Center, and the visiting of the club's adopted grandmother.

Main school activities were raising funds through cake raffles, candy sales, and doughnut sales to co-sponsor the annual Mistletoe and Holly Ball with the Key Club. Accumulated funds, handled by treasurer Beth Welsh, also sponsored a junior girl to Girl's State.

Under the advisorship of sponsors Mrs. Deborah Mortimer and Mrs. Cheryl Clark, the members learned that serving the community was not only worthwhile, but a valuable way to form new friendships.

President Debi Cannan discusses ways in which the cafeteria can be decorated for the Mistletoe and Holly Ball.

The Keyettes smile as they listen to the success of one of their fund raising projects.

KEYS OPEN MANY DOORS

During the 1980-81 school year, the Key Club concentrated their efforts on club reorganization. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Mark VanDevort, the club strengthened their effectiveness by re-writing the club constitution and initiating a stricter merit point system. Reminders of obligational wearing of ties were issued by President John Harrell. Treasurer Mark Smith collected dues.

As a community service organization, the Key Club performed many civic duties. From collecting money for charity to collecting blood for the Red Cross, the club maintained a very active outlook. Annual club events included co-sponsoring the Mistletoe and Holly Ball with the Keyettes, and the Super Citrus Sale. All in all, the Key Club managed to have a very successful year as they "tied" in both civic and school activities.

Club sponsor Mr. Mark VanDervort and president John Harrell proudly display the awards they recieved for their community and school service.

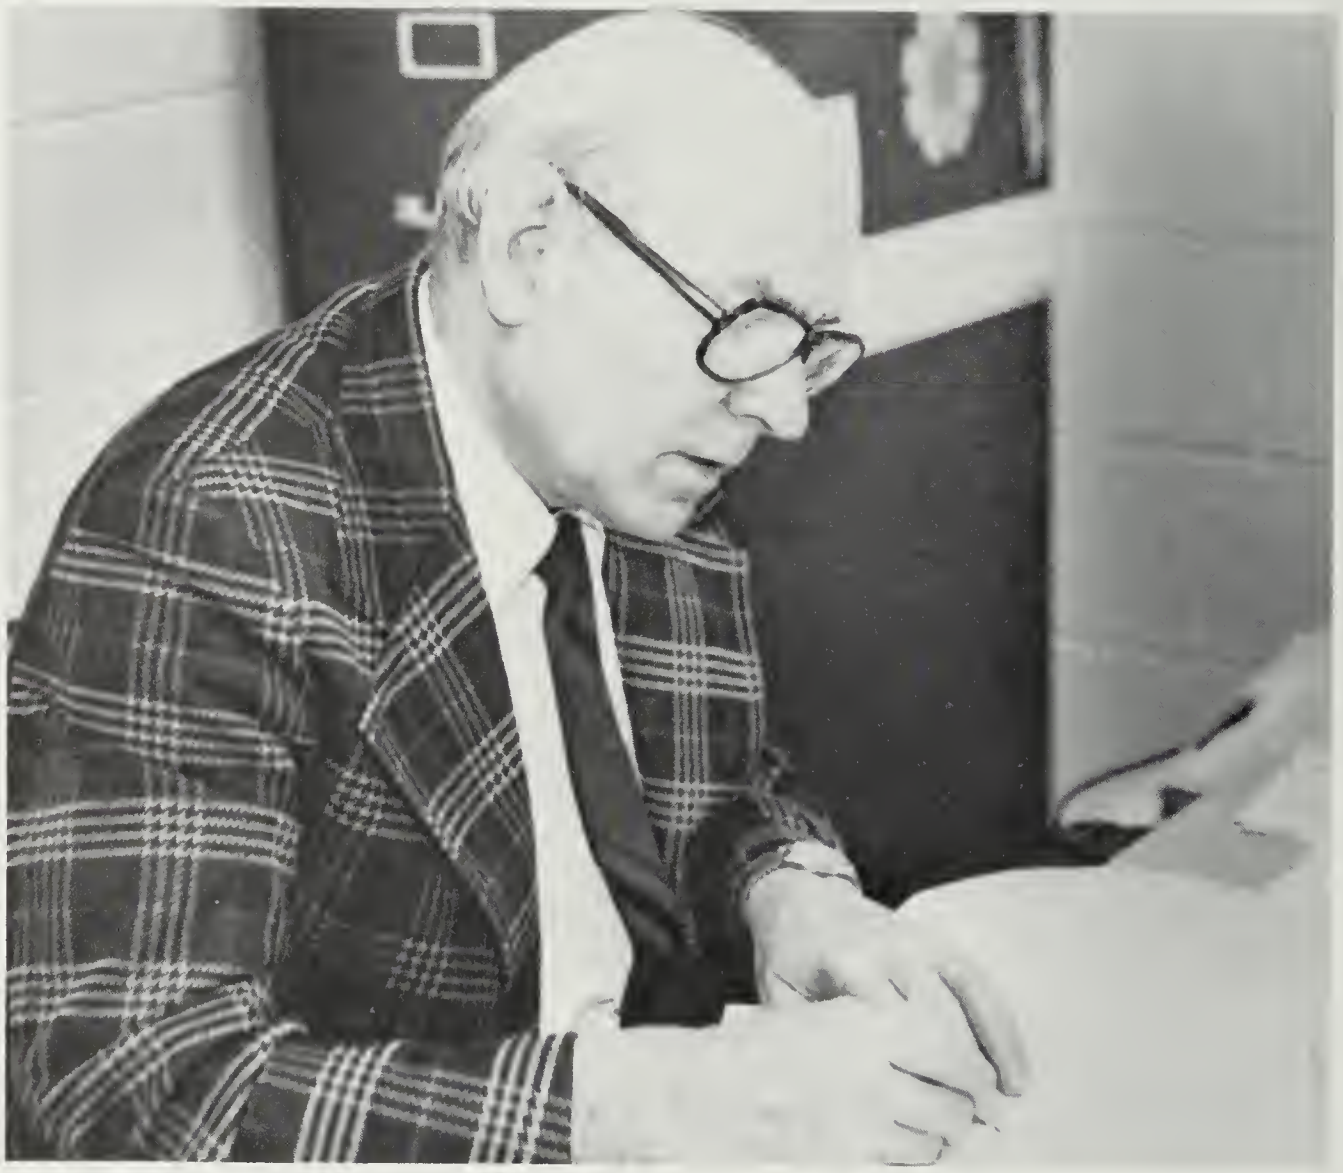
ACADEMICS & FACULTY

GUIDING LIGHT

What happens to a lost, confused sophomore? a junior who needs a job? a college bound senior? They all head for the Guidance Department.

Each of the six counselors took an alphabetically arranged group of the student body and helped them through their years at Kecoughtan. Each counselor also had a special field in which to counsel students. Mrs. Cheryl Hudson, the newest counselor, worked with students who needed college information and scholarships and was assisted by Mr. Harold Parrish, who worked on Financial Aid Programs. Mr. Sidney Williams counseled students on career opportunities and Mrs. Alma Luck was the vocational counselor. Mr. Arnold Ritt headed TAG, the Transfer Adjustment Group, while Mrs. Jane Price controlled the entire outfit as the director of all the counselors. Working together with guidance secretary Mrs. Gladys Hardrath, the counselors managed to successfully guide the students at KHS through yet another year.



Working in deep concentration, Mr. Harold Parrish doesn't need help to fill out Financial Aid Forms.

Anticipating good news, Mrs. Gladys Hardrath opens the morning mail.

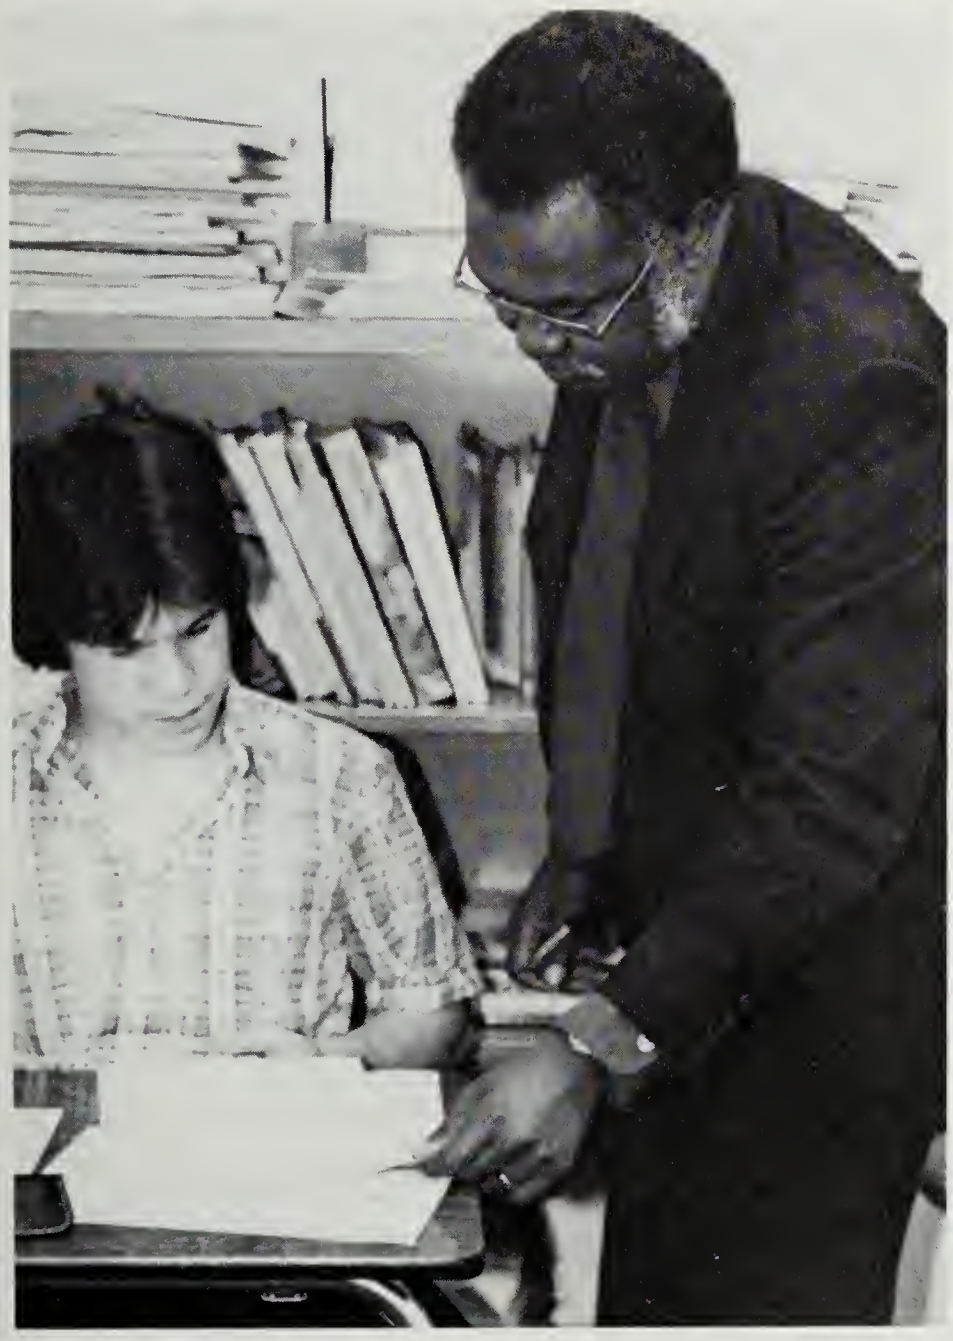
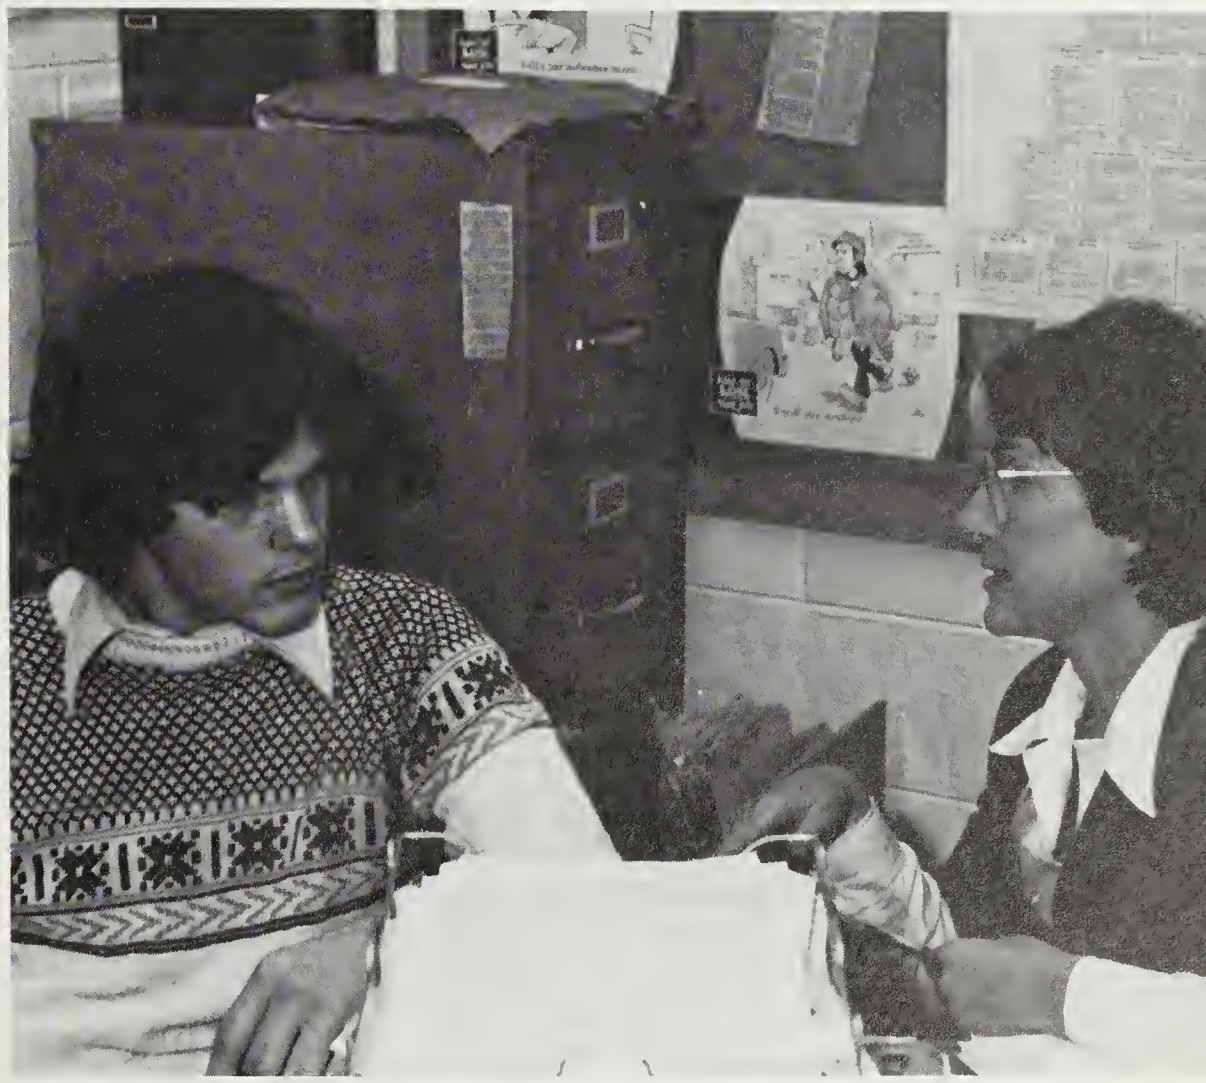
Discussing the results of the career test with Randy Wallace, Mrs. Cheryl Hudson relies on the help of charts and graphs.



Preparing to take a career test, David Hentz gets a little supreme guidance.



Counseling a student Mrs. Alma Luck suggests courses for next semester's curriculum.

THE SUPPLY DEPOT

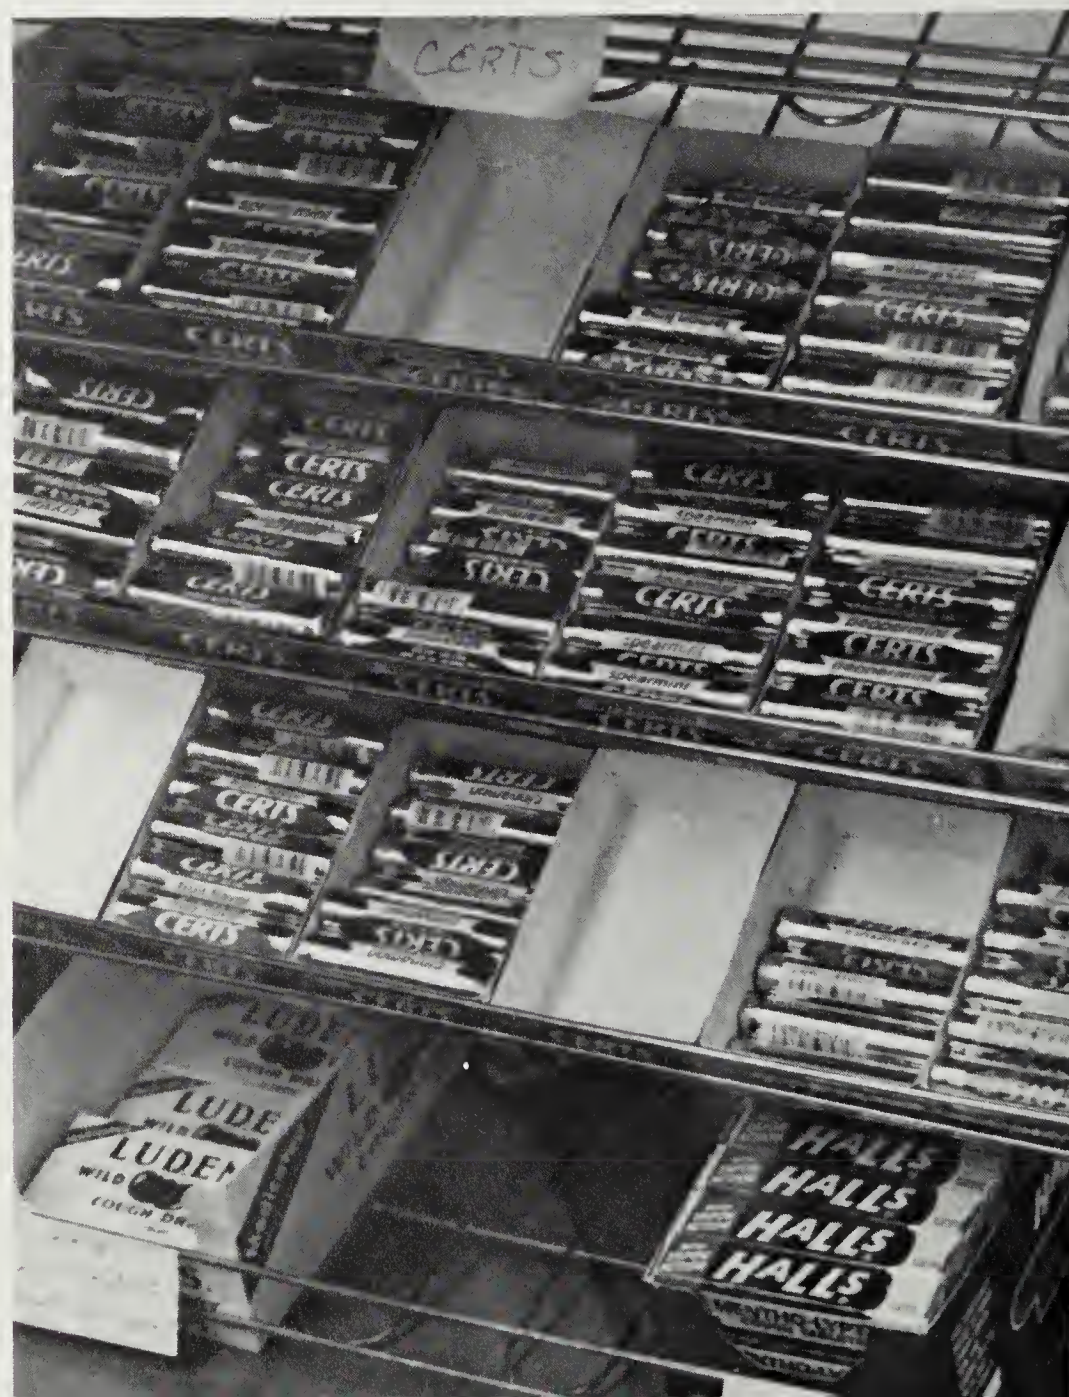
Hard at work in the bookstore, a student aide presents a frustrated expression of business.

One of the busiest places at Kecoughtan was the bookstore, especially before school and during lunch hours, as Mrs. Alese Evans and her student aides sold a wide variety of school supplies, anything from pens to Certs. Between the rush hours, student aides were kept busy stocking shelves and running the mimeograph machine.

In her "spare time" Mrs. Evans had the awesome responsibility of balancing the many accounts of Kecoughtan. Her job entailed many things that ranged from bookkeeping for various clubs and organizations to managing the school's checks and bank deposits. With the flow of students in and out of the bookstore all day, the work of Mrs. Evans was made easier with the help of the aides.

Finishing another busy day, Kecoughtan's bookkeeper Mrs. Alyse Evans totals the daily income.

This bookstore display of certs and cough drops generates ample attention.



COOKING UP A STORM

A hungry student searches for an ice cream to cool down his appetite after a hot lunch.

An effective organization during the 1980-81 school year was the Kecoughtan cafeteria which was staffed by able and willing ladies who produced an ample choice of food by providing a hot lunch line, three lines for bag lunches and a salad bar. Exercising their working abilities, these ladies not only prepared the food but also assured an ample supply of it.

At the end of the day, Mrs. Watson, cafeteria director, totaled the amount of food that was consumed that day. In addition to the good food and the care of cafeteria workers, the pleasant atmosphere created by the "lunch ladies" made Kecoughtan a cheerful place in which to eat.

Endeavoring to fulfill her cellular calcium need, Mrs. Joan Irick hands over change to a thirsty Lydia Brown.

Realizing that there's a big difference between really "making money" and just making change, Mrs. Linda Brown reflects on her job.

MENTIONABLE HONORS

Members of the National Honor Society, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Alberta Boyd, actively participated in such community activities as Christmas caroling at the Kecoughtan Veterans Hospital and collecting toys for the "Toys for Tots" program. A new activity for the club was establishing a tutorial staff to assist students with problems in any academic area.

Selection for membership was based on maintaining a high grade-point average throughout the ninth, tenth, and eleventh grades, or an equivalent of six semesters in high school and participation in extra-curricular activities. In accordance with these standards, members participated in the National Honors Day Program held at Hampton Institute.

The school "brains" did not limit themselves only to activities connected with learning. Displays of club members' school spirit included a colorfully decorated float in the Homecoming Parade. A "just for fun" activity was seeing "West Side Story" at the Tidewater Dinner Theater, with the aid of funds raised by participation in the schoolwide candy sale. In addition, doughnut sales were carried out in the academic year to establish a scholarship fund for one or two deserving seniors.

New members were inducted in the spring but not before present members had left a legacy of prestigious honors. Club treasurer Jennifer Wandling and Greg Schnieder were National Merit Scholarship Finalists, and senior Shawn Pancyrz placed first in a patriotism essay contest.

With the year coming to a close, President Michael Webb and Vice-President Mehul Shah concluded the year with a final meeting in June. The "first Wednesday of every month" meetings were over and graduating Honor Society members sported special gold stoles at graduation. It was indeed an "Honorable" year.

Gene Green reviews the club's treasury report while Teresa Strickland pats herself on the back for a "job well done" at the doughnut sales.

National Honor Society sponsor, Mrs. Alberta Boyd, enphasizes the need of regular attendence at a club meeting.

Handling tardies, absences, and early dismissals were the duties of Mr. Solomon P. Wesley and Mrs. Shirley Booth. After making detailed attendance records, both agreed that absence only by necessity was the best policy. Student disciplinary action was also among their tasks. Suspension of a student for an excess of tardies, absences, failure to report for detention, or disruptive behavior was the strictist punishment doled out by the deans. The difficult tasks to be accomplished by the deans meant that not only the students, but the deans themselves were always in attendance.

Mr. Soloman P. Wesley appears to be all business as he looks over a suspension form.

Making a grand entrance, Mrs. Shirley Booth's face reflects her good mood to those students in the office.

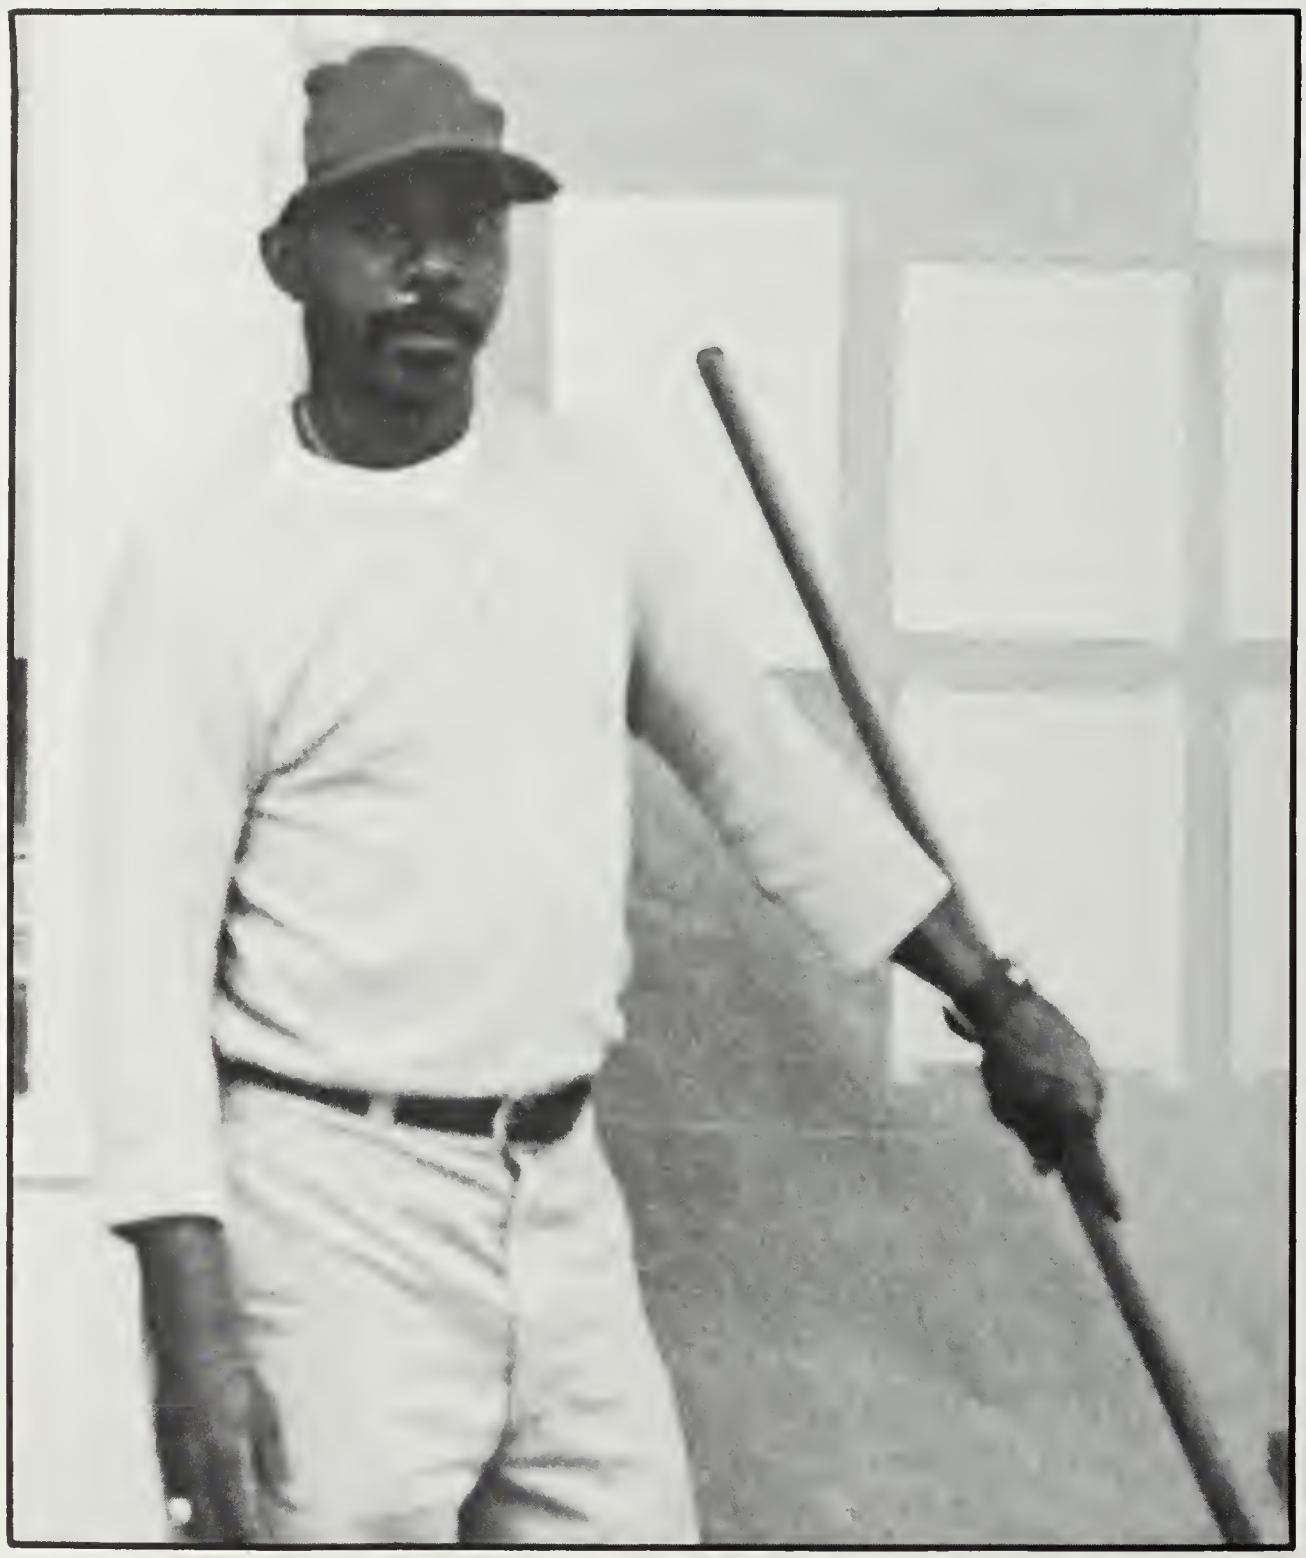
ATTEND—DEAN

A SWEEPING SUCCESS

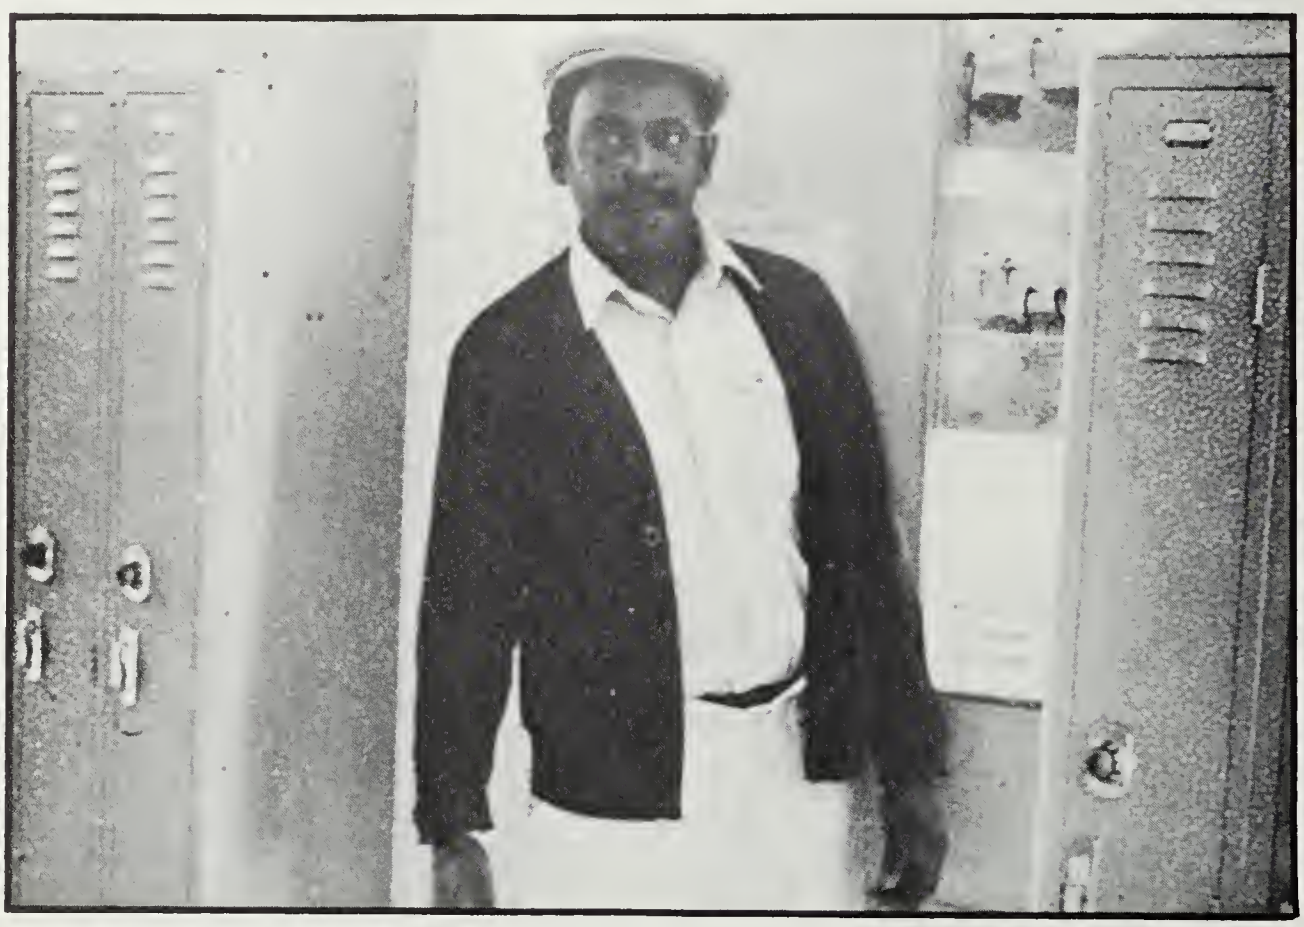
Keeping Kecoughtan High School with its student body of almost 1800 students presentable was a task that must have seemed unending to the eighteen member custodial staff. These hardy souls, under the direction of Mr. Fred Ridley, were kept busy cleaning up the spills, the overflows and the breakdowns that were daily occurrences. Coupled with this were the every-day tasks of sweeping and mopping classrooms, washing windows and cleaning bathrooms which kept the staff active.

The outside also demanded their attention as debris was picked up in the parking lots and the campus. And, as if the above were not enough, the custodians were also responsible for cleaning up following after-school activities such as drama productions, dances and basketball games.

A never-ending task? Yes, and the efforts of these men and women were greatly appreciated by students, teachers and administrators.



Pausing from his work, Mr. Barooka Green takes a break before making his final sweep of the halls.



With key in hand, Mr. Fred Ridley continues his daily routine of cleaning the classrooms.

WORKING FEVERISHLY

Nearing the end of her fifteenth year as school nurse at Kecoughtan, Mrs. Myra Hastings had accomplished many things. The word nurse is defined as one that fosters or advises and is trained in caring for the sick. A compact definition for a job that required skill, patience, and understanding.

Undoubtedly, Mrs. Hastings had all three of these qualifications. As a registered nurse, she took care of small medical needs and made the decision if further treatment, at a hospital, was necessary. Accomodating approximately 1900 students and teachers, Mrs. Hastings needed a great amount of patience. It was her belief that many people that visited her office were simply in need of an understanding ear, which she provided when possible.

Retiring provided Mrs. Hastings with a chance to enjoy doing what she liked to do: playing golf, visiting her kids, and traveling with her husband. It also gave her a break from the heavy amount of paperwork her job entailed.

Student Insurance and faculty workmens' compensation were typical responsibilities of Mrs. Hastings'. For her hard work for both the student body and the administration, she was awarded the Bow and Arrow Award in 1969. The honor is bestowed upon the outstanding faculty member of the year.

Excellence was a criteria for surviving fifteen years on the faculty staff. Through her counseling and nursing, Mrs. Myra Hastings set a standard of excellence that will long be remembered by the Kecoughtan population.

The face of Mrs. Myra Hastings registers concern as she discusses a student's hangups with his parents.

Even though an ill Caren DeRuiter rests, Mrs. Hastings does not lie down on the job.

NUMBERED DAYS

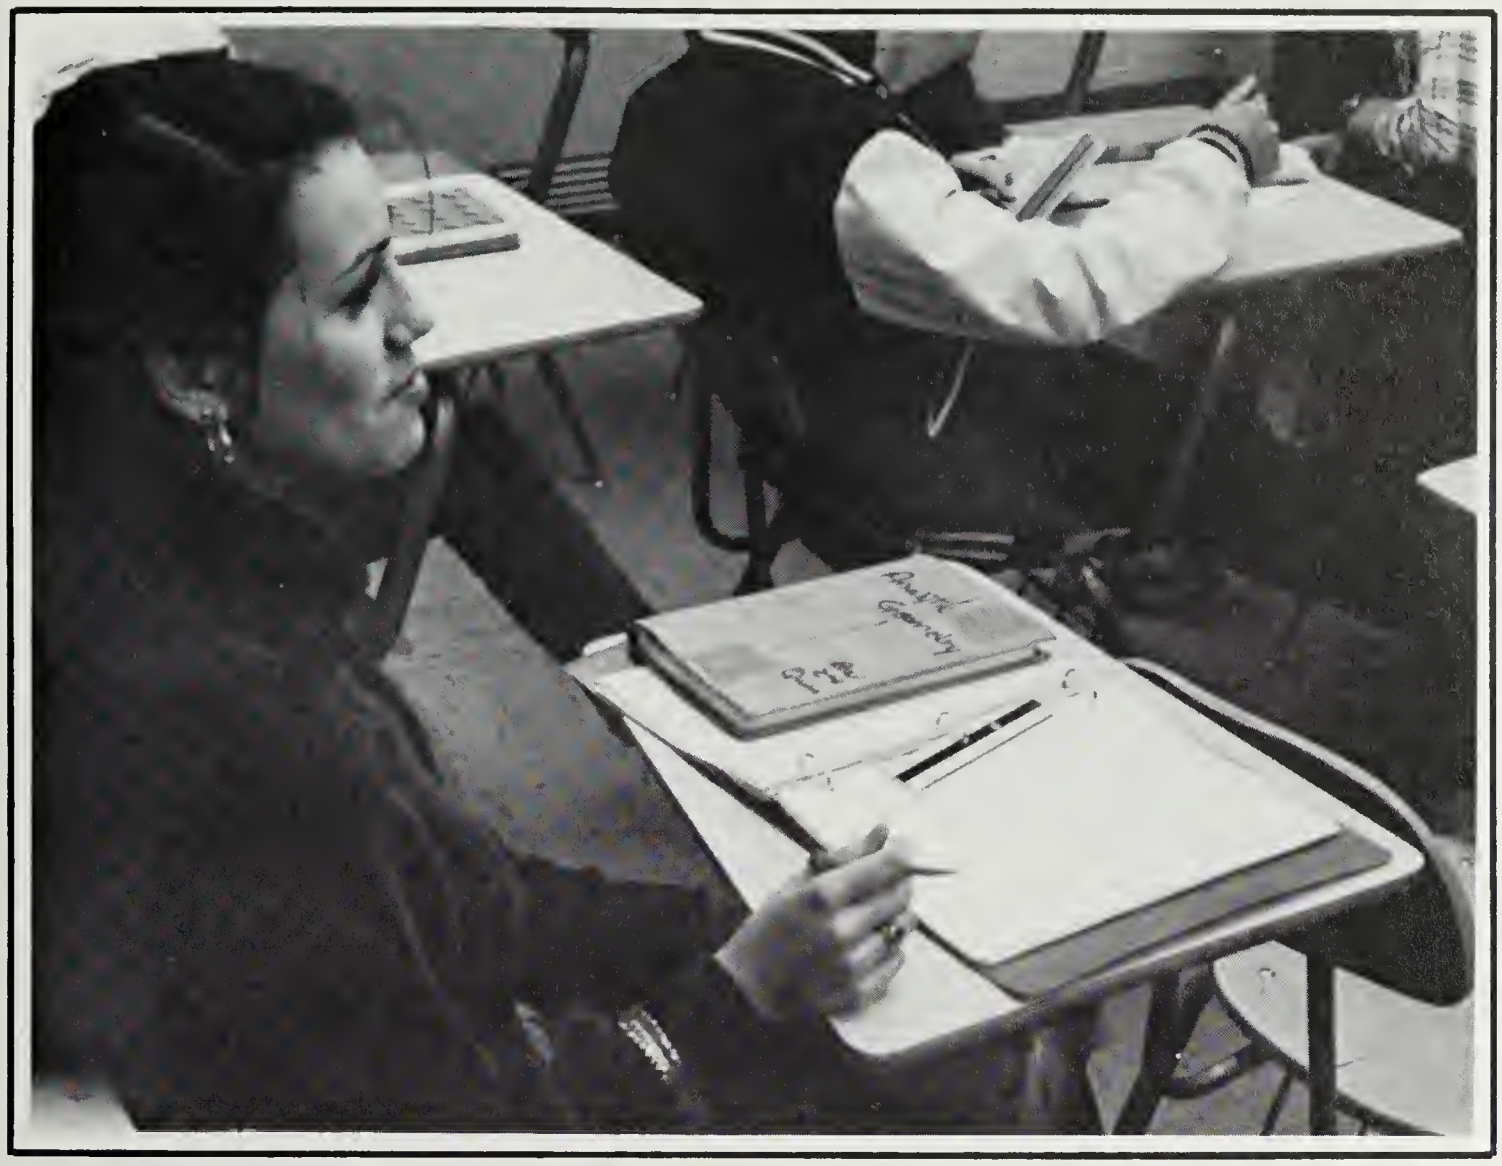
Despite vicious rumors that math is detrimental to one's health and should be eliminated from the school curriculum, the KHS math department proved to be a functional organization.

Chaired by Mrs. Patricia Denton, the department ran circles around the rumors by successfully educating students in subjects such as algebra, geometry and trigonometry. For those students who sought a different program, there was computer math. Not subtracting in any way from the grandeur of the department was the most advanced class of calculus.

Although student interest was divided among the many courses offered, the numerous teachers explained graphically to their students the basics of mathematics. Proof of the teachers' capabilities was the number of students who passed the math competency tests—tests that must be passed before a student can graduate. Although a few "squares" still spread the rumors that math caused eventual brain death, the math department proved that its days were not numbered.

Reviewing his notes, Mr. John Quinn prepares his class for the exam.

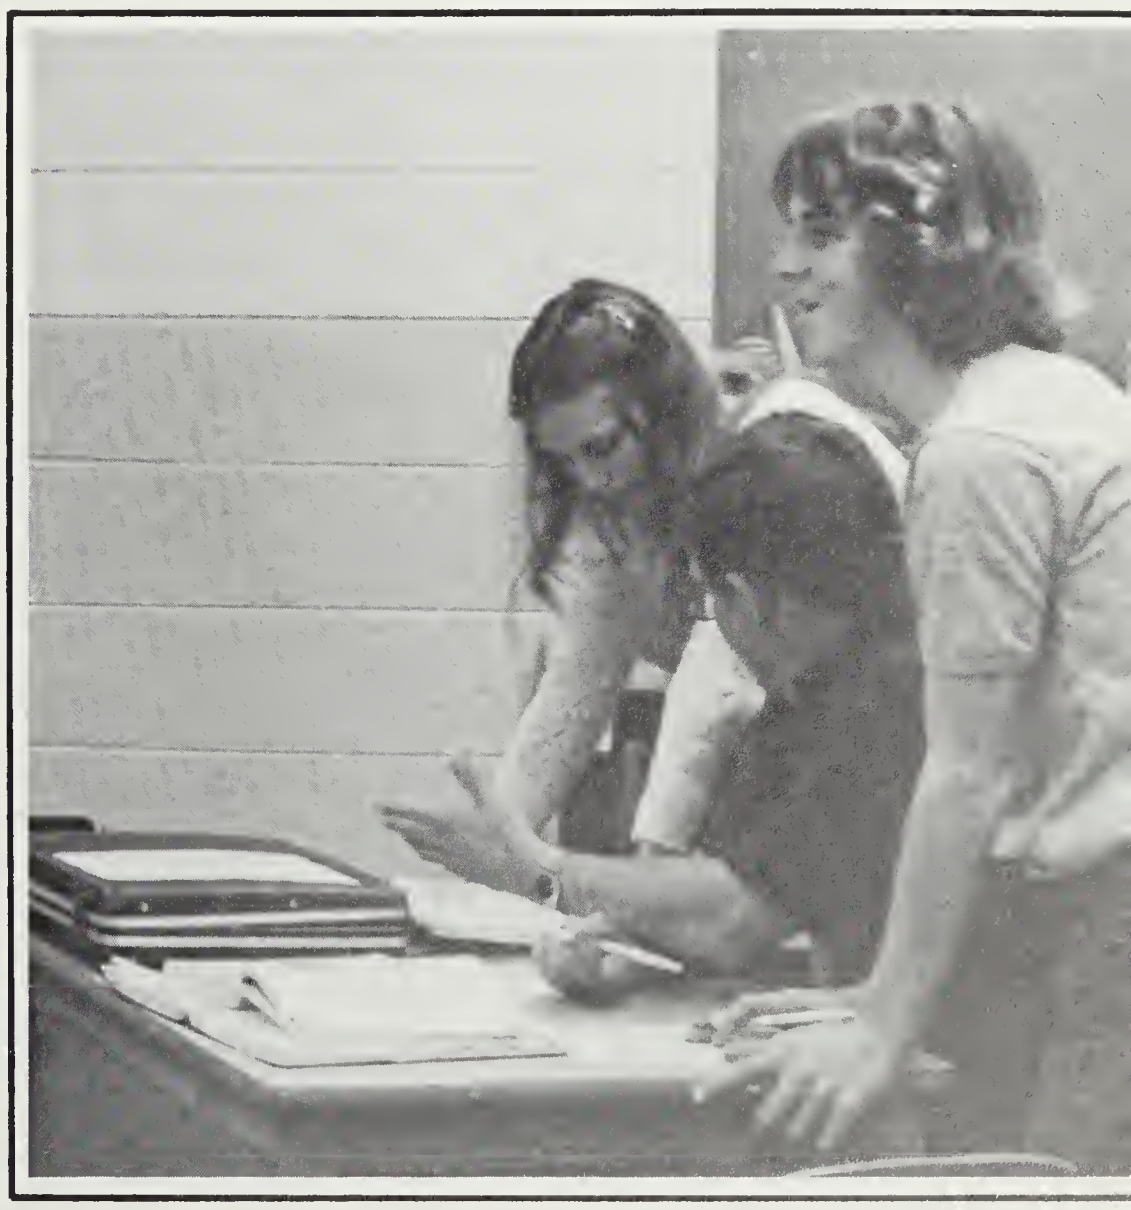
While his classmates are busy, Ronald Roussel takes a minute to gather his thoughts.



Stifling a giggle, Rosi Briggs remembers her last test score.

Explaining the difference between old and new math, Mrs. Aretha Watkins "figures" out loud.

Susan Elswick seems to be seeking the professional help of Mr. Thomas Millen, but Donald Sykes appears to be taking a fellow student's advice.



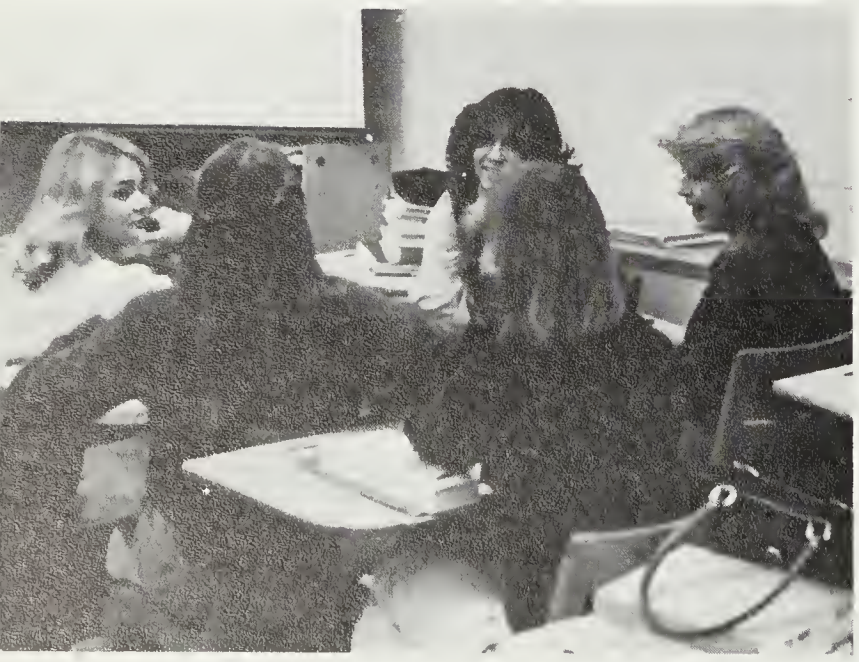
WRITING AND ABLE

Chaired by Mr. Garland Wesson, and staffed by twenty teachers, the English Department which offered a total of thirty-six courses ranging from public speaking to independent study, was easily the largest department at Kecoughtan. Curriculum was divided into the three basic areas of language and composition and literature, and literature, with a certain amount of credits required from each area to fulfill prerequisites for graduation. Elective courses such as journalism and speed reading were also offered.

In order to fulfill the requirement that the English Department provide students with a general knowledge of grammar and writing skills, a writing center was created this year to aid all students requesting assistance in those areas.

Thus, a student, if he or she took advantage of the various course offerings and the writing center, should be well versed in all areas of English.

"If you want an 'A' on this paper . . . ", explains Mrs. Evelyn Dawkins about the basics of writing profound essays.



English students discuss the universal truths in the film they just saw.

Enlightening a class of Shakespeare students, Mr. Mark VanDervort describes the parallels between Classical English and sports.

"On your mark . . . ", begins Mrs. Shirley Wingfield, as her Speed Reading students prepare for their race for rapid comprehension.

Enjoying a note on a student's paper, Ms. Julia Pace begins to correct it for minor errors.

Explaining the finer points of Creative Writing, Mrs. Sophia Romano tries to elicit magnificent works of expression from her students.

SCIENCE IS ELEMENT-TRY

Offering a variety of classes, the Science Department obtained the enrollment of nearly half the student body. The four types of classes taught were Biology, Chemistry, Physics, and Physiology. There were two levels, introductory and college prep, of both Biology and Physics. For those wanting to obtain a deeper insight into the Biological mysteries, Mrs. Anne Tucker taught a Physiology course. Under the direction of Mrs. Debra Mortimer, the department strove to present a program stressing correct lab procedures and the application of learned materials.

Not quite pacified by assurances that lab glasses will protect his eyes, Steve Allen takes no chances by losing his eyes as David Foster carries on the experiment.

Intent upon heating the test tube, Vince Urbano makes preparations for his chemistry lab.

Having difficulty answering a question, Junior Debbie Barker wishes the chemistry test would "make like an atom and split."

Too thirsty to wait until lunch, Joseph Ramsey takes a sip from his Florence flask.

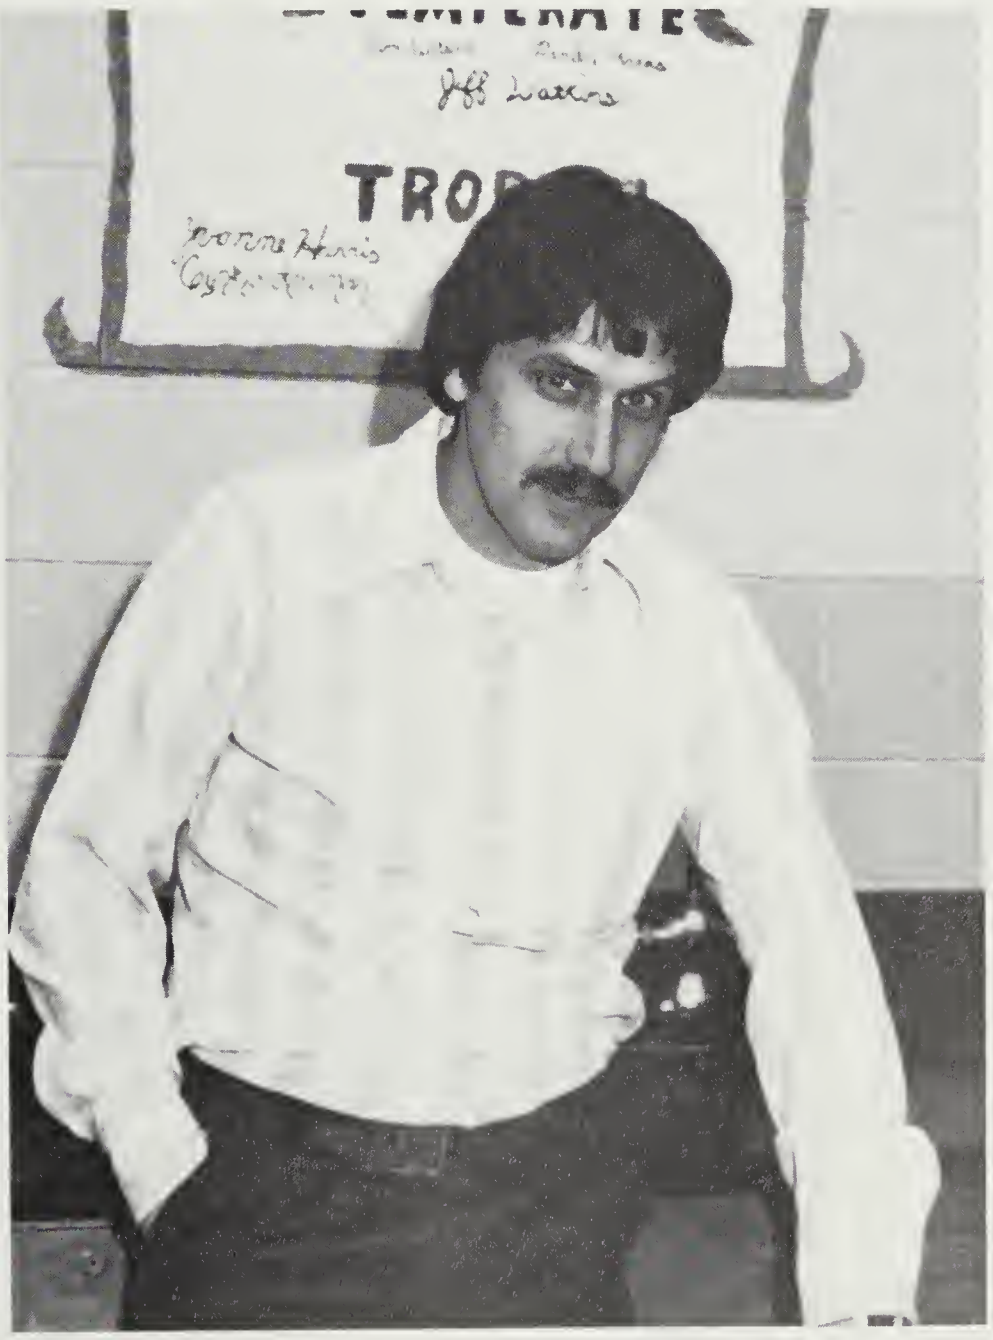
Sweet dreams of scientific inventions filter through Nelson Cheeseman's mind as he sleeps peacefully during Biology.

Wondering how his knowledge of electron synthesis will ever be useful in later years, Sean Westmoreland smiles ruefully at an entire study guide on the subject.



"No, lipid is not the Greek word for mouth," explains Mr. Leonard Thomas to an inquiring student.

FOREIGN FLAIR

Kecoughtan students were offered a variety of languages in the 1980-81 school year. The large enrollment in first year Spanish, French, German and Latin classes showed that many students were interested in learning the basic vocabulary and grammar of the languages. Second year classes, which entailed a more extensive grammar study were, therefore, more difficult and attendance consisted mainly of those students seeking to complete the two years of a foreign language required by many colleges. The third, fourth, and fifth year students were dedicated language scholars

The foreign language department was headed by German teacher Mrs. Judith Williamson. She worked to organize a system that motivated the students and made learning a foreign language more than classroom participation. One planned activity was Foreign Language Week. Students made posters which were hung throughout the school and at the end of the week a banquet open to any language student and their families was held. The combination of fine music and good food made the evening a true cultural and learning experience.

Mrs. Carleen Yates beams with satisfaction as she receives a correct answer from a student.

Surrounded by spectators, Eric Dow attempts to gain his momentum by leaning forward.

Representing the French class, and leading the pact, Sean Butler approaches the finish line.

Although no gold metal awaits the winner, Kim O'Garro gives her all to win the "Speedy Gonzalez".

On your mark, get set, . . . and they're off!

FROM THE PAST, INTO THE FUTURE

How were some of the major problems of the Reconstruction Era solved? What was the Cold War? Major political theories—what are they? Give up? Don't despair, because the answers to these and other questions were found in the Social Studies Department.

Chaired by Mrs. Sara Alligood, the Social Studies Department offered a variety of courses for eager Warriors. World history was offered to interested sophomores, while three levels of American History, tracing the advance of America from colonial to present times, were available to juniors. Seniors could choose from three levels of government.

Also included in the Department were courses in personal finance, economics, and sociology. Money and how to handle it was the topic in personal finance and economics. Sociology taught students about society and its workings. Students left these classes with a better understanding of the past and capable of making responsible decisions for the future.

Mr. Jerry Flowers listens attentively as a question is presented from the class.

Looking up to hear the next question, Harold Lumsden ponders over an answer.

Mrs. Wanda Bielloch looks disbelievingly after hearing a question that has been asked several times before.

Ron Gillett dillegently reads his history text so as to not be surprised by a quiz.

Brightening the class period with a joke, Mr. Donald Taylor laughs at his own remarks.

BUSY BODIES

Preparing students for the job market entailed the teaching of many necessary skills. Under the influence of Mr. I. G. Warner, head of the Business Department, and his able assistants, students received an education in business career opportunities.

The variety of courses touched on all fields of business study. To keep track of money, students learned the art of bookkeeping from Mr. Warner. Personal typing, taught by Mrs. Linda Black, kept the records neat, but in the event of any record discrepancies, students were well informed on how to deal with these problems, thanks to the business law teacher, Mrs. Judith McPherson. On-the-job courses such as COE provided invaluable working experience for those in the program.

By taking advantage of these and other courses, such as Stenography I and II, students became well informed on what to expect in the business world so they wouldn't "get the business."

A smile and wishful thinking gets Mrs. Judith McPherson through til Friday.

Proofreading the typed letter Betty Jo Clements checks for errors.

Filling out progress reports, Mrs. Peggy Becauvarakis pauses to reflect on a student's grades.

Using the dictionary Patricia Moran checks for the correct syllable division of the word business.

Restraining the urge to glance at her fingers, Jodi Rogers takes a quick look at the instructions before she continues.

TOOLING AROUND

Who ever thought that taking Mechanical Drawing would be an easy way to get an elective credit was dead wrong. It was not easy but proved to be a real learning experience. Students learned to draw complicated and detailed drawings, which without the knowledgeable help of teachers Mr. Wellington Saecker and Mr. Richard Smith, would have boggled the average mind. Through the use of T-squares and triangles, the students shaped their architectural ideas into accurate drawings.

Above the roar of the machines in shop class, Mr. Clayton Fitchett and Mr. Claude Hopson taught students the skills of working with their hands and tools to turn out intricate objects made of metal and wood. Using these skills, the students made such projects as wooden stools and metal salt and pepper shakers.

By providing students with applicable skills, the Mechanical Drawing and Shop classes hammered out a path for learners seeking a future in architecture or carpentry.

Knowing that he has almost completed his table, Chris Boswell hurriedly applies the stain.

Using the techniques learned with power tools, Andrew Davis sands down a table top.

Watching with amazement, David Clark examines the techniques of his fellow students.

Constructing a tangent, Melvin Gross puts the finishing touches on his drawing.

Smoothing out the rough edges, William Jennings sands the top of his table.

MAKIN' IT

Preparation for the future was what Home Economics and Distributive Education was all about. With a variety of courses to choose from, students could learn the subject that interested them.

Home Economics classes centered on skills and information needed to be a competent homemaker. Classes like Interior Decorating, Cooking and Sewing class focused on advancing the skills learned in Home Ec. I and II, while other classes like Marriage and Family and Child Development gave students new knowledge of living.

Distributive Education taught students about working, marketing and job skills. Though it was mandatory to have a job to successfully complete the course, students were helped with the application process and the finding of a job. Students learned different types of marketing, food, clothing and general. This enabled stuents to gain valuable experience in the working world.

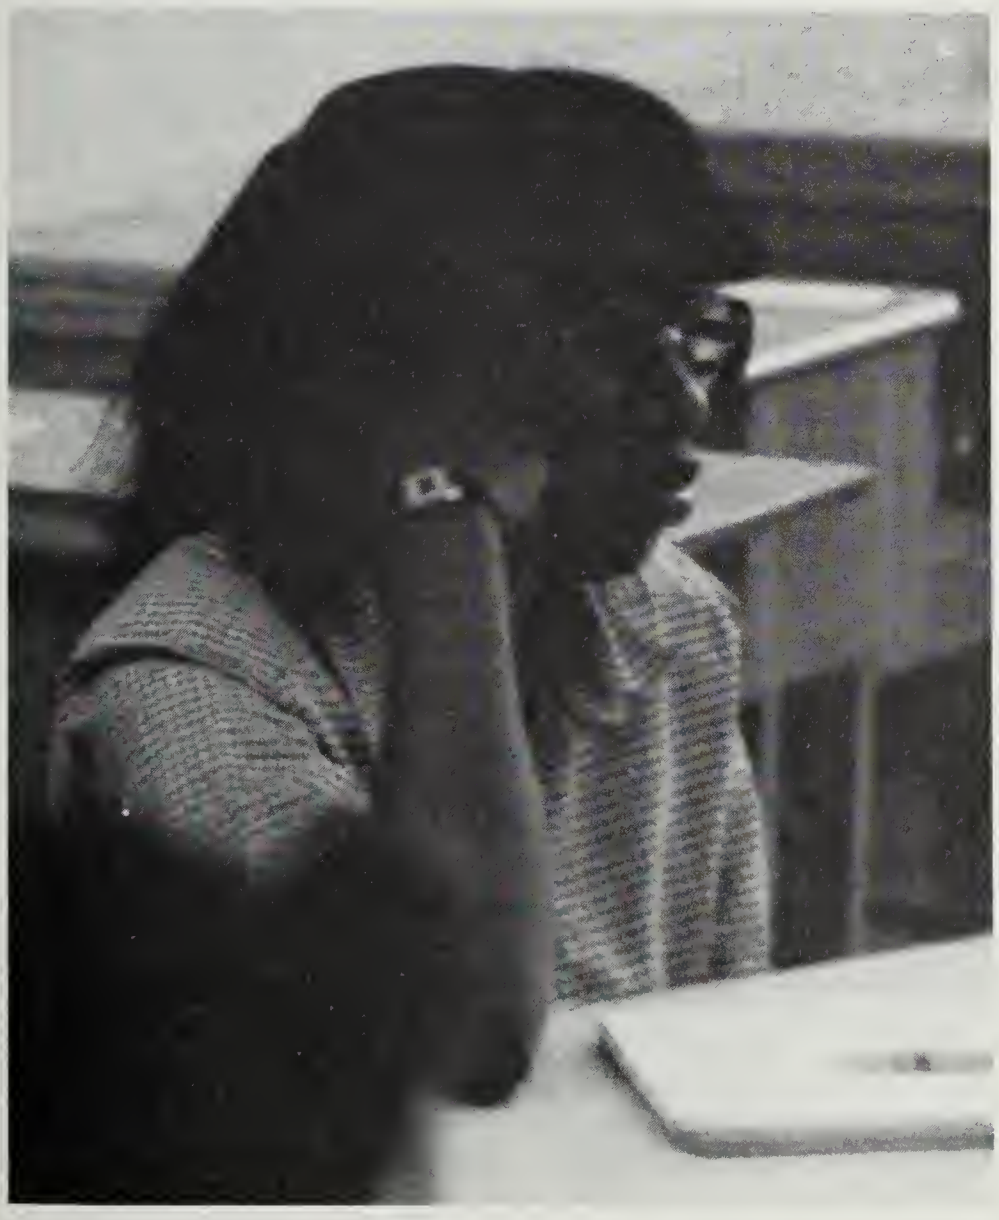
Kim Goforth and Debbie Overstreet listen to a lecture on how to balance a budget.

April Raskin listens attentively to a fellow student give an oral report.

Realizing that he is loosing the class' attention, a guest speaker tries to think of something interesting to say.

A student pauses from taking notes to dream about a future job.

A dedicated Home Ec. student watches her teacher demonstrate a new sewing technique.



DRAWING "EASEL-Y"

Roaming the halls of Kecoughtan in the 1980-1981 school year might have been future Rembrandt's, Picassos, or Dalis. The best place to look for them was in the Art rooms. Under the Direction of Mrs. Jean Harrell and Mrs. Cheryl Carter students were instructed in courses ranging from Elements and Principles to Drawing People.

Pre-Picassos were taught the basics of all art forms in Elements and Principles. Class lessons centered on shapes and colors, sketching, and sculpting. Beginning Drawing and Beginning Painting were choices available to scholars already primarily educated in the foundation of artistic expression. These courses expanded upon the primary functions of painting mediums and line sketching.

The artist with accumulated experience under his easel "brushed" aside fundamental courses to advance to either Ceramics or Drawing People. Ceramics taught the principles of the art of pottery construction while Drawing People was a chance for students to study the human anatomy in and effort to realistically draw people. A typical project in Drawing People was drawing a 6-foot human figure.

Other courses were Design, centering on commercial art, Handicrafts, and Art Careers, a course concerned with the history of art. Although Kecoughtan's white ceilings did not show Sistine Chapel-style magnificance, student talent was displayed in showcases throughout the halls. The emergence of a truly great artist remains a possibility.

Checking over her notes, Joy Denning pauses before stressing the importance of perspective in drawing.

"What do you mean the cat ate your dues?" a disbelieving Joy Denning asks Johnathan Robinson as Mrs. Harrell and Mary Watson count the rest of the money.

Mrs. Jean Harrell gives inspiration and guidance to an aspiring Michelangelo, Johnathon Robinson.

HEALTHY MINDS AND BODIES

The Physical Education and Health Department consisted of mainly sophomores who wished to fulfill the one required year of Health and P.E. The small staff made up of seven teachers was headed by Coach Buddy Denton. Working together, the teachers and students had an active school year.

The physical education courses included both team and individual sports. For those students who enjoyed active and competitive sports, basketball and soccer were offered. Others who preferred more leisurely sports could have chosen badminton or recreational activities.

There were a variety of health courses offered. Crisis/Health taught the students to deal with death and dying and the accompanying emotions. Mood modifiers, dealth with mental health, drug and alcohol abuse, and opened doors to better understanding of these everyday problems. One of the more popular courses was family life, which better prepared students for future management of their lives. Along with the variety of courses offered the underclassmen had to make the decision of taking health or P.E. first.

Robert Drew practices the proper archery procedure in hopes of making a bull's-eye.

Using their offensive volleyball tactics, the team members return the ball over the net with a smashing success.

After learning the proper technique of serving a volleyball, Monica McMillan puts her new skill to the test.

Attemping to score two points for his team, Jack Jenkins shoots for the basket.

Using team work as their strategy, these volleyball students work together towards a supreme victory.

Sophomores, traditionally on the low end of Kecoughtan's totem pole, put forth their joint efforts and ended up the year several rungs higher. During the football homecoming festivities, they left their mark by coming in first in the Volkswagon Race and third in both the spirit and float competitions. Under the sponsorship of Ms. Loretta Powers, sophomores constructed their float at Tami Winbourne's house with the able assistance of Allison Black's parents.

The Class of '83 participated in the school-wide candy sale and the proceeds helped defray their float expenses with money to spare. Those leftover funds were put aside for the up and coming Junior year.

Glad that the test is over, Candice Edwards smiles in relief.

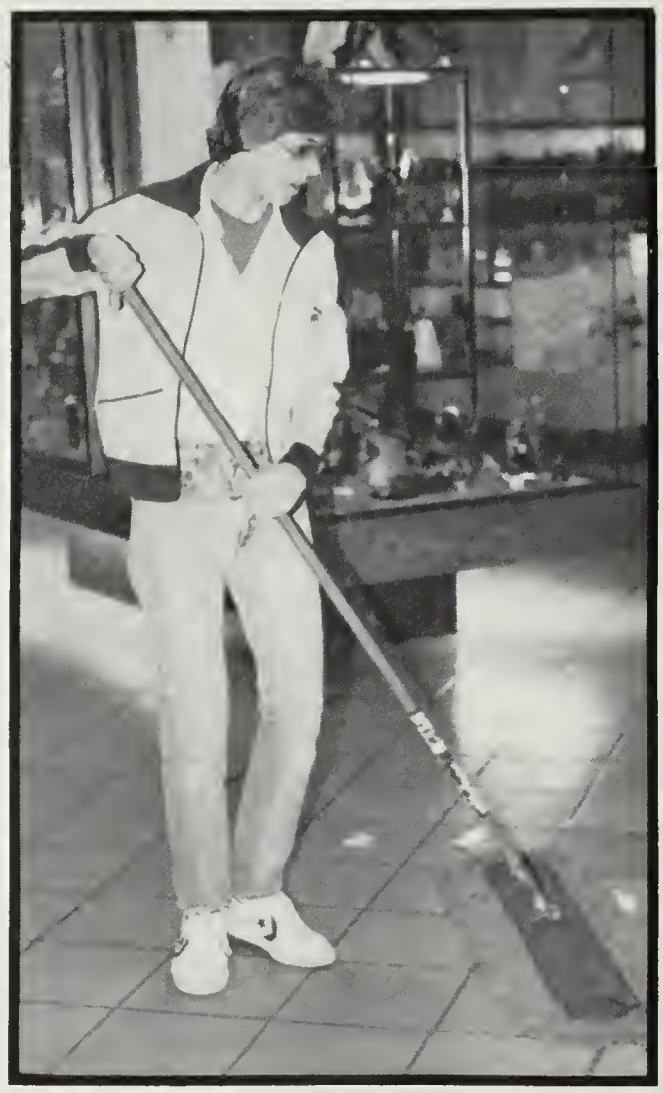
Eager to get into the world of finance, many juniors took the added responsibility of having a job. Familiar faces could be seen behind the counters of stores scattered throughout Willow Oaks, Coliseum, and Newmarket Malls. Fast food restaurants, clothing stores and movie theaters were among the favorite places of employment. However, those students who had good selling abilities enjoyed the added commissions they received from selling jewelry and shoes. Because of long hours, little time was left for personal enjoyment, but the steady income of money outweighed this and any other disadvantages.

Their entrance into the business world better prepared them for the many years of working that lay ahead. Proving that they could juggle school, a job and the responsibilities at home, Juniors moved one step closer to success in the world of business.



Making a clean sweep of it, Charles Maden gathers debris on the floors of the Coliseum Mall.

TESTING FOR A TEST

For most high school students, the Junior year represented a turning point as they began contemplation of their futures. College planning was an essential preparation for college-bound students as was the taking of the Scholastic Aptitude Test. For those who were interested, a preparatory exam, the PSAT, was available. Taking advantage of this testing opportunity, a majority of the Juniors entered Kecoughtan's cafeteria one day last fall and, putting their intellectual skills on the line, took the three-hour-long PSATs. These tests provided the students with an example of college board exams and scores from the tests gave students an idea of their capabilities in future testing. Although career decisions did not have to be made until later, many Juniors were already planning their futures, and PSAT exams represented an essential step in that planning.

Co-sponsored by the Key Club and Keyettes, the 1980-81 blood drive was a great success as a total of 221 pints of blood were donated. Challenged by Bethel High School, over two hundred spirited Warriors trooped into the main gymnasium at Kecoughtan where the attempt to meet the three hundred-pint goal was made. Student who were unable to meet the physical requirements (seventeen years of age and a minimum weight of 110 pounds) served as volunteers, either passing out refreshments or helping calm nerves of first-time donors. Although the goal was not met, the blood drive was one example of the Kecoughtan student body working together for a good cause.

CREDITS

TOMAHAWK began the year with a few veteran staffers, many new workers, and a brand new sponsor who was blissfully ignorant of any part of yearbook production. By the end of the year, most of the students had dropped, but the veterans remained with a now not-so-ignorant sponsor.

This sponsor wishes to thank those few loyal staffers who "stuck it out" all the way to the end, when, on June 26, 1981, TOMAHAWK went to press. Special thanks go to the editor, Allison Butler, who calmly and methodically kept the work going throughout the year; to Sharon Lucas and Jerry Daniel whose reliability and hard work kept the photography up-to-date; and to Kurt Araujo, Inter-Collegiate press representative who gave freely of his time and expertise to help the staff meet deadlines, photographed some special events and some candids, and designed the cover and the divider pages. The staff and sponsor hope that the readers will enjoy the 1981 TOMAHAWK now and in the years to come.

TOMAHAWK, printed by Inter-Collegiate Press of Shawnee Mission, Kansas, was a 9x12 book, bound with heavy duty binders board, Smythe sewn, rounded and backed, and used eighty-pound paper throughout. Type for the 1981 book was 10, 8, 6 pt. Optimist, the cover was a lithographed percentage screened 30-70-100 Forest Green using Serif-Gothic lettering. TOMAHAWK had a press run of 800 copies with a total of 224 pages, 14 of which were in color.

Wilson Moore of National School Studios conducted the photography for both the senior portraits and underclass pictures. Candids and group shots were taken by Staff Photographers Jerry Daniel, Sharon Lucas, Jesse Fanning, Liz Williams, Steve Locke, Susan Hale, Todd Coates and Derek Jeffries.
